Envoy Linked To Reds Ends Life In Cairo

Canadian Diplomat Named In Report To U. S. Senate Unit

CAIRO, April 4 (AP)—Canadian Ambassador Herbert Norman jumped to death from a building near his Cairo home. He was charged before a U.S. Senate subcommittee with once having been a Communist, charges the Canadian government hotly denied.

"I kiss your feet and beg you to forgive me for what I am doing," the 48-year-old envoy told his wife in one note.

The other, addressed to Swedish Minister Brynolf Eng, said:

"I have no option. I must kill myself, for I live without hope."

Egyptian police found both notes on his broken body in the street.

Norman was named in 1951 in testimony before the U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee as a member of "a Communist party student group" at Cape Cod in 1939.

Canada Protested

Last month the subcommittee heard its investigator, Robert Morris, recall that during the 1951 investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations testimony had been received that Norman once was a member of a Communist student group at Columbia University in New York.

The Canadian government protested to the U.S. government on both occasions against Norman's name being introduced into the subcommittee's hearings.

In Ottawa today Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said Norman—who had wrestled with aspects of the Suez Canal problem much of the time since he took up the ambassadorship here last August—died as the result of a nervous collapse brought on by overwork, overstrain and "a feeling of renewed persecution."

Old Charges Resurrected

Pearson amplified a report of the Canadian Embassy in Cairo that the ambassador had been in a depressed condition due to "recent unpleasant publicity and accusations." He told the Canadian Parliament that Norman, with "a sensitive mind . . . and a not very robust body," was deeply and understandably depressed "by the resurrection by one or two persons in Washington of certain old charges affecting his loyalty and which were disposed of years ago."

"The reason for these renewed attacks may be obscure," Pearson said, "but the tactics used degrade only those who adopted them."

Norman had served in the Foreign Affairs Department for 18 years with loyalty, devotion and ability, Pearson said, and "during that time all his actions served only to confirm and strengthen my faith in and my admiration for him."

Subcommittee's Role Defended By Senators

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The suicide of Canadian diplomat Herbert Norman prompted a statement from two top members of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee today saying the group has an obligation to investigate any Communist activities in this country by foreign nationals.

The statement by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the chairman, and Sen. Jenner of Indiana, the ranking

House Restores Most Of Labor, Welfare Funds

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—An eight-day budget-cutting spree ended abruptly today as the House wiped out on roll-call votes all but $15,671,300 of the $68,647,300 in cuts it had previously made in new money for the Labor and Welfare departments.

Then it sent to the Senate by voice vote, after five hours of roll calling, a bill appropriating $2,846,831,581 to the two big departments and several small agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

This was $134,446,000 less than President Eisenhower had requested.

The final reduction included $118,774,700 made by the Appropriations Committee before the bill reached the House and $15,671,300 imposed by the House itself.

Sewage Disposal Cut Put Back

The previous cuts put back on final votes were:

1. $50,000,000 which had been eliminated from funds to help cities build waste disposal plants. The vote was 231-185.

2. $136,000 which had been trimmed from the Bureau of Veterans' Re-employment Rights. The vote was 275-137.

3. $31,000 which had been pared from the Women's Bureau. The vote was 209-206.

4. $1,327,000 cut from the Food and Drug Administration. The vote was 285-130.

5. $1,482,000 trimmed from the Office of Education. The vote was 207-206.

Slashes Left In Bill

Left in the bill were these House instigated cuts: $30,000 from the office of the secretary of labor, $204,000 from the labor solicitor's allotment, $46,300 from the Bureau of Labor Standards, $442,000 from the Bureau of Employment Security, $12,186,000 administrative costs of state employment service and unemployment compensation programs, $1,500,000 from federal employes' unemployment compensation, $263,800 from the Mexican farm labor program, $346,000 from the Bureau of Labor Statistics, $288,000 from the Wage and Hour Division, $200,000 from the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, $100,000 from the Bureau of Public Assistance, and $65,200 from the National Labor Relations Board.

Drastic Mail Service Cuts Loom

Summerfield Asks Congress Consider Plan

Additional Money Only Alternative

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield called tonight for quick consideration "by the entire Congress" of his plan to slash postal services starting Saturday unless his department gets more money.

Summerfield made public a telegram he sent to Rep. Cannon (D - Mo), chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee which yesterday voted to cut 30 million dollars from the Post Office Department's request for 47 million dollars in supplemental funds for the next three months.

The telegram to Cannon, who is also chairman of the full Appropriations Committee, said:

"With total reluctance we are laying plans for curtailment of postal services to meet cut imposed yesterday by Appropriations subcommittee on our requested supplmental appropriations for fiscal 1957.

Next Move Considered

"We believe the seriousness of these required curtailments warrants consideration by the entire Congress at earliest possible date as to the advisability of this course. To that end I would appreciate it if you would expedite urgently the action and report of the appropriations committee to the House so that if further funds are voted they will be available before too much damage is done to the service."

Summerfield called a night meeting of his top assistants to consider the department's next move.

"Emergency Press Conference"

Earlier in the day the postmaster general held what he called an "emergency press conference" and said a drastic curtailment of mail deliveries can "serve only to penalize the American people" and 508,000 postal employes.

There were indications the full Appropriations Committee may go along with the 30 million recuction.

But Summerfield said that unless there are assurances in the next 48 hours that his department will get the entire 47 million, he will be forced to make drastic cuts and "it would be completely unfair to place that responsibility on the postmaster general or this administration."

Dag Reports Cooperation From Nasser

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 4 (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold reported today he got full cooperation in Cairo from President Nasser and made satisfactory arrangements there for the U.N. Emergency Force.

The U.N. chief told reporters he would be "unhappy to see the breaking up of the UNEF arrangement" until a fundamental change in the Middle East situation removes the need for the 10-nation, 6,000-man force. It now is posted in the Gaza Strip and on the Egyptian shore of the Aqaba Gulf.

All Questions Discussed

Hammarskjold spoke in reply to questions at his first news conference since returning a week ago from a nine-day mission to Cairo. He said he did not skip a single Middle Eastern question in his talks there. He declared himself ready to go to Jerusalem or back to Cairo whenever that would be useful.

The secretary general said he did not think it would be a good idea to call the Security Council in on the issue of how to operate the Suez Canal until possibilities of current Washington-Cairo negotiations have been exhausted.

In answer to a question on President Eisenhower's news conference statement that he expected Egypt would not bar the ships of any nation from the canal, Hammarskjold said: "I think it is a wise assumption."

Egypt Not Seeking Loan

Hammarskjold denied Egypt has asked for a loan from the U.N. or the World Bank for canal equipment.

He said he had no reply from Egypt to Israel's question whether Egypt considered itself still at war with Israel. He also reported he had no replies from either Egypt or Israel whether they were willing to reaffirm, as a "nonaggression pact," a provision of their 1949 armistice agreement against warlike acts.

25 Soldiers Killed

ALGIERS, April 4 (AP)—Twenty-five French soldiers were killed and 13 wounded by rebel bands in a wild, mountainous area of northeast Algeria, the French military command said today.

Nasser Reportedly Balks U.S. Efforts To Alter Suez Plan

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The United States was reported today to be making last minute efforts to win some revision of Egypt's plan for operating the Suez Canal despite initial rejection of the main American proposals by the Egyptian government.

The Suez issue was one of the questions discussed in a 45-minute conference today between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, according to information from diplomatic officials here turned down three major changes which Dulles had asked in a note sent to Cairo last Sunday. Those changes were designed to protect the interests of user nations in the operation of the canal to the greatest extent which Dulles considered possible under the plan proposed by Egypt a week ago.

The Egyptian reply was received here Tuesday night. Dulles had said at a news conference Tuesday morning that he expected to know within 24 to 48 hours whether there was any chance for serious negotiation with Egypt on the Suez issue.

The 48-hour period expired today and the word from diplomats here was that the Egyptian response really offered no solid basis for hope that serious negotiations were possible. Every indication was that Nasser was standing firm on his own terms for operating the waterway under complete Egyptian control.

However, there were also several signs that Dulles, who is personally directing the exchanges with the Egyptian government through Ambassador Raymond A. Hare in Cairo, has not yet given up all hope of getting some modification of the Egyptian position.

State Department press officer Lincoln White, for example, told reporters that the Suez question "is just where it was yesterday" and that the Egyptian reply of Tuesday night was not considered Egypt's final word.

Japan Premier Coming To U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Japan's Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi will visit Washington June 19-21 for conferences with President Eisenhower, the White House announced today.

Kishi will also confer with Secretary of State Dulles and other high U.S. officials.

The White House said they will discuss "matters of mutual interest to the two countries," and that this government "anticipates a useful exchange of views between the Prime Minister and the President."

In a depature from the usual form of such announcements, the White House said the forthcoming talks are "not for the purpose of negotiating agreements on any specific matter."

In response to questions, acting White House press secretary Wayne Hawks said he did not know why that phrase was included.

Kishi said in Tokyo earlier today that he wanted to visit the United States "to adjust the two nations' thinking" on several issues. As possible topics, he mentioned "defense, Communist China, Okinawa and aid to Southeast Asia."

Worthy Claims Draft Violation Case Dismissed

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Willian Worthy, who defied the State Department ban on travel to Red China, accused the department today of raising an "irrelevant" issue by saying he was once accused of being a draft law violator.

Worthy, a Negro staff member of the Baltimore Afro-American, said it was true that he was so accused back in 1944 after being classified as a conscientious objector in 1943. But, he said, the case was dismissed.

Case Nolle Prossed

"I refused to enter a conscientious objectors camp because the government was assigning men geographically on the grounds of race or color," he said.

"Rather than face a court test on the racial discrimination issue the Department of Justice nolle prossed the case after it learned that I was eligible for a 4-F exemption for a duodenal ulcer. . .

"Contrary to today's testimony of Robert Cartwright, acting director of the State Department's Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, I did not serve one day or any longer in jail and I never went to a conscientious objectors camp."

Worthy Denied Passport

Worthy issued a statement in Chicago, after the matter was brought up in a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing by Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) during testimony by Cartwright.

The group has been investigating the State Department's refusal to grant passports to U.S. newsmen to go to Red China and, more specifically, its refusal to renew a passport for Worthy.

Actress Sheds Mate Who Didn't Like Her Wiggle

LOS ANGELES, April 4 (AP)—Roxanne Arlen, 22, an actress known as "The Wiggle," got a divorce today, testifying:

"He was extremely jealous. He was jealous of people looking at me and the way I walked.

"In other words, he objected to my wiggle."

She said her husband, Milton R. Gilman, 32, a Detroit salesman, struck her.

They were married in 1951 in Detroit and separated last Jan. 8.

Strong Man Sought

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Ann Arbor police were hunting for a strong man today.

Patrolman Walter A. DeDula was on his downtown beat when he spied a hole in the sidewalk. Someone had yanked a parking meter, steel pole and all, from its cement foundation.

Child "Adopts" Abandoned Baby

ELMONT, N.Y., April 4 (AP)—Mrs. William Garnett smiled indulgently at her 8-year-old daughter today as the child fondled a pink-and-white bundle in her arms.

"I'm taking care of my baby," little Alice Garnett exclaimed.

Mrs. Garnett knew Alice was cradling one of a litter of newborn kittens. Finally the child put the bundle on a settee to dress for school.

Mrs. Garnett went over to release the kitten. But it wasn't a kitten after all. It was a 3-week-old baby boy.

Police were called. From Alice they learned she had found the baby on the screened-in porch of her home. No notes were found with the abandoned child, which was taken to nearby Meadowbrook Hospital.

Dallas Storm Damage

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—Dallas' tornado damage was set at $2,114,500, excluding industrial plants, today.

The Dallas death toll remained at 10, with 35 of the 200 persons injured still hospitalized, at least four of them in critical condition.

Air Force Goal

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining said today that the Air Force aims at developing a ballistic missile that will carry nuclear warheads 4,500 miles or farther in "about 30 minutes."

Classrooms Called 'Must' For Defense

President Declares Only Wisdom Can Bring World Peace

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP) — President Eisenhower, plugging anew for his classroom construction program, said tonight the nation's schools are more important than Nike antiaircraft batteries "and more powerful even than the energy of the atom."

In an address prepared for delivery at the centennial dinner of the National Education Assn., Eisenhower asserted:

"The hope of the world is that wisdom can arrest conflict between brothers. I believe that war is the deadly harvest of arrogant and unreasoning minds."

The President, whose talk was carried nationwide on ABC radio—at 9 p.m. EST— said further that the strength of America's arms "is always related to the strength of our minds." Then he added:

"Our schools are strong points in our national defense. Our schools are more important than our Nike batteries, more necessary than our radar warning nets, and more powerful even than the energy of the atom.

Trained Minds Necessary

"If this is true, if for no other reason than that modern weapons must be manned by highly educated personnel if they are to be effective, and the energy of the atom can only be understood and developed by the most highly trained minds in the country."

Eisenhower's fresh appeal for congressional approval of the administration's four-year, $1,300,000,000 school aid program came just a few hours after the first action in Congress this year on a program in that field.

A House Education subcommittee today approved 6-1 a five-year two-billion-dollar program of federal grants to the states to help build classrooms.

The bill amounted to a compromise between the administration plan and a proposal by Democrats calling for a six-year, $3,600,000,000 program of aid.

Three Previous Setbacks

In his text prepared for the educators' dinner the President made no mention of the subcommittee action.

He did repeat that federal help is necessary on an emergency basis because he said the school building program "suffered three grievous setbacks in this generation." He listed these as "the depression of the 30s, the war of the 40s, and the Korean crisis of the 50s."

Eisenhower also repeated:

"Federal help in building schools will not mean federal control. After these new schools are built, after the bricks are laid and the mortar is dry, the federal mission will be completed. All control and use of the schools will be in the hands of the states and the localities."

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower placed great emphasis on his plan for the federal government to end emergency help after four years.

N. Y. Subway Fire Stalls Trains But Panic Averted

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) —A smoky fire deep underground today stalled 60 rush hour trains on the IRT west side subway line. Some 50,000 passengers were stranded.

Hundreds were evacuated through emergency exits in the fire area near 103rd St. Three persons were overcome by smoke and a fourth was taken to a hospital with an injured foot.

Lights went out on some of the stalled trains. There was momentary shrieking, excitement and confusion. But panic which could have led to disaster was averted.

The fire, which broke out in the ties of the northbound tracks, was brought under control in about half an hour. Police headquarters said it started when a contact shoe on a train broke and grounded the third rail.

Firemen in masks moved through the smoky tunnel to fight the fire and bring trapped passengers to safety.

Motorman Juan Hernandez was bringing a five-car local into the 103rd St. station. He said he encountered smoke so dense he couldn't see a thing. He inched his train along until the first car reached the station's unloading platform.

Hernandez' 150 passengers thus were able to walk to the front of the train and get out. However, the heavy smoke frightened some of them. Several woman screamed for help.

Britain To Cut Armed Forces, Rely On U. S. Nuclear Power

LONDON, April 4 (AP)—Hard-put Britain today announced a revolutionary five-year defense plan that will nearly halve its armed forces, and place the nation's security under the umbrella of American nuclear power.

A policy declaration in a long-awaited White Paper set forth the Macmillan government's radically advanced concepts for reorganizing the country's air, land and sea forces to the needs of the atomic age and Britain's ability to meet the costs.

Aspects of the new policy reportedly have divided the Cabinet and military planners.

The program provides for cutting back defense spending by more than 560 million dollars—or nearly an eighth of the whole defense budget—in the next fiscal year ending March 1958. Within five years the armed forces will be cut from 680,000 to 375,000 men.

It also calls for reducing Britain's garrisons around the globe, a complete withdrawal from South Korea and the ending of the draft in 1960 when the next general election normally would fall due. The British have a single battalion in Korea.

In starkly realistic terms the White Paper recognized "there is at present no means of providing adequate protection" for Britons against a nuclear attack. Even if only a dozen enemy bomers get through Britain's air defenses—as would seem "inevitable" — they could inflict "widespread devastation," the document stated.

The White Paper declared that in these days of mass destruction weapons "no country can protect itself in isolation."

It added: "The defense of Britain is possible only as part of the collective defense of the free world. This conception of collective defense is the basis of the North Atlantic, Southeast Asia and Baghdad alliances. The free world is today mainly dependent for its protection upon the nuclear capacity of the United States."

Britain's contribution to the nuclear deterrent possessed by the free world is "modest" compared with that of the United States, the document declared. Nevertheless British atomic bombs are in "steady production" and the Royal Air Force holds a substantial number.

A British hydrogen or megaton bomb has been developed and is shortly to be tested.

Pending international agreement on disarmament, "the only existing safeguard against major aggression is the power to threaten retaliation with nuclear weapons," the declaration went on.

Accordingly Britain has decided to recast all its old strategic ideas.

As to the navy, "a considerable number" of battleships now in reserve are to be sold—possibly to Commonwealth countries—or scrapped.

Cruisers, destroyers and other types of smaller warships eventually will be replaced with a smaller number of more modern vessels, some of which will carry guided missiles.

In the Royal Air Force, Britain will give high priority to developing nuclear weapons for delivery by manned bombers, and rockets. In view of likely progress of guided missile and rocket defense, the development of a supersonic manned bomber has been stopped

Tornadoes, Flood Threats, Snow In Weather Picture

[By The Associated Press]

Wild spring storms touched off tornadoes in the South, whirled snow across the North and raised flood threats in the Midwest Thursday.

The twisters hit in Mississippi, Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The snow belt reached from the Western Plains to the Atlantic in the northern states.

Persisting rain swelled the Ohio River and its branches in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

During the day five storm deaths were reported. Tornadoes killed two persons in the South—both in Mississippi—and injured 100 or more. Traffic deaths attributed to the bad weather numbered two in Nebraska and one in Missouri.

Twenty-one persons perished earlier in the week in the series of storms that began Monday with blizzards in the Rocky Mountain region and tornadoes in Texas and Oklahoma.

The snow reached a depth of 20 inches at Philip, S.D., 9 in Chadron, Neb., 5 in Redwood Falls, Minn., and 6 in Scranton, Pa.

High winds picked up snow that had fallen Tuesday and blew it across southeastern Wyoming. Snow isolated communities and stranded motorists.

The Ohio River was reported to be rising at a rapid rate at East Liverpool, Ohio, near the Pennsylvania boundary. Some threat of flooding developed on smaller streams in western Pennsylvania near Beaver Falls, Sharon and New Castle.

C Of C, ADA Slap At Administration On Economy Issue

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration was caught between two lines of fire today on the economy issue—from such unlike sources as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and Americans for Democratic Action.

The businessman's organization complained that money savings endorsed by President Eisenhower had been sidetracked at the White House.

The ADA said Eisenhower ought to get rid of subordinates who won't support spending plans in line with announced presidential policy.

Meanwhile, Undersecretary of the Treasury Randolph Burgess vowed there was no disagreement between him and President Eisenhower on budget cuts. Eisenhower said yesterday he didn't anticipate any big slashes, such as two billion dollars. About the same time Burgess was saying it would be fine if two or three billion dollars were cut out of the $71,800,000,000 budget.

ADA, an organization which has supported the programs of Democratic Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, sent Eisenhower a message applauding "your defense of your budget."

However, it said the administration position will not be clear "so long as your official family continue to urge substantial general budget cuts."

The Chamber of Commerce made a rather special display of its statement that the White House itself has blocked some savings proposals it said Eisenhower endorsed last week.

The Chamber's weekly newspaper, Washington Report, gave front page space to Eisenhower's news conference statement of March 27 that the government could "save a whole lot" if it put some federal lending programs "on a business basis."

Eisenhower said the government lends money at a lower interest rate than it borrows — that it charges 2 per cent in some cases "and we pay 3½ to 4."

The chamber pointed out that the Hoover Commission last year made five recommendations for interest rate increases by four agencies—the Farmers Home Administration, Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, Rural Electrification Administration, and Small Business Administration." The article went on:

"These, presumably, were some of the activities to which the President was referring.

"But the President failed to mention that a White House report released last Oct. 27 listed four of the five commission recommendations as 'not accepted' by the administration and said the fifth was still being studied."

100 Million Penny Mystery Solved

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The mystery of who wants 100 million pennies was solved today.

The order was placed last week with the Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, but the client and the purpose were not announced.

Turns out that the million dollars in coppers is a direct mailing promotion for the Readers Digest Book Club which last year passed out 56 million pennies in a similar scheme.

That time various coin dealers rounded up the cents, but this time the Denver mint is to deliver the coins, which comprise one-tenth of the annual penny coinage.

Contract Awarded For State Building

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—A $2,548,000 contract for construction of a new State office building in Annapolis was awarded today to the Blake Construction Co. of Washington.

The Department of Public Improvements said ground-breaking would be April 15. Construction of the four-story Colonial structure is to be completed by late 1958.

The red-brick building will house ten State agencies, many of them moving from quarters two blocks south of the new location.

The Blake firm already is building a $9,754,885 State office building in Baltimore.

It was lower by only $200 than John McShain, Inc., of Baltimore, for the Annapolis Job. Eleven bids were received.

A $318,893 contract for a heating plant was awarded to the Charles T. King Company of Baltimore.

Elderly Motorist Killed In Collision

LEWISDALE, Md., April 4 (AP)—A 75-year-old man was killed today when his car collided with another automobile in this Prince Georges County community.

The victim was Joseph Hais of Silver Spring.

State Police said Hais failed to stop at a stop sign and his car struck one driven by Velma R. Clark of Langley Park.

Chilean Riots Wane; Troops, Tanks On Alert

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 4 (AP)—Troops, tanks and armored cars maintained order in Chile today after two days and nights of destructive riots over rising living costs.

Officials acknowledged 18 deaths in clashes between demonstrators and police or army troops. Others placed the toll in the scores. Hundreds were injured.

The demonstrations, which began last week as a protest against an increase in bus fares, degenerated into violent outbreaks in which scores of shops were looted and public property damaged.

Latest estimates put the damage in Santiago at five million dollars.

Under the muzzles of machine guns the capital was quiet today. All public services except bus transportation were back to normal. Banks and other business establishments not damaged began to reopen, but all schools remained closed by government order. Plane service was restored and railroads operated normally.

The only incident of the day was a clash between troops and a group which tried to prevent workmen from entering a suburban factory. A number of persons were wounded.

D. C. Blossom Queen To Be Named Tonight

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—State societies held a reception and dance for the visiting princesses as tonight's highlights of Washington's annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

Tomorrow night the festival queen will be selected by a spin of the "wheel of fortune" at the festival ball.

The 110-piece Plant High School Band from Tampa, Fla., won the highest award, "outstanding parade unit," in the annual Cherry Blossom Parade last night before a crowd police estimated at 115,000.

The Tampa entry also won first place in the "official state bands" category.

Other winners in order in the "outstanding parade unit" category included Napoleon, Ohio, High School, South Hagerstown, Md., High, and Morehead City, N. C., High, none of which was entered as an official state band.

Baltimore Harbor Tunnel Marker Contest Planned

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—Maryland artists or others with a knack for sign-making can win $250 in a State contest to select highway markers for the Baltimore harbor tunnel, scheduled to open next December.

The signs are to be erected on city streets and principal highways leading to the tunnel, not only in Maryland, but also in nearby states.

The trail blazers sought by the State Roads Commission will be 24 inches high with letters at least 3 inches tall.

The design is to be in not more than four colors, including white, black, red, green, blue or yellow. A directional arrow will also be necessary, either as part of the main sign or as a separate sign for mounting below the main design.

The design is to be submitted in sketch form, one-half size. The winner later must complete his sketch.

Iranian Bandits Brought To Bay

TEHRAN, Iran, April 4 (AP)—Remnants of the bandit gang which killed three Americans in the Iranian desert last week have been brought to bay in a wild mountain area 50 miles west of the Pakistan border, police reported today.

Gen. Ali Goltira, commander of Iranian police, is personally directing a force of more than 1,000 police and loyal tribesmen surrounding the gang's mountain hideout. He declared he would resign if he fails to capture bandit chief Dadshah and his henchmen.

The desert outlaws ambushed and killed Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., and Brewster Wilson of Portland, Ore., on March 24. Carroll was an official of the U.S. Point Four program in Iran and Wilson represented the Near East Foundation.

The Interior Ministry has announced that loyal tribesmen armed by the government have killed Mrs. Carroll's slayer. Several other bandits also have been killed in the long pursuit.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Francis Stevens assured Iran's new premier, Menounchehr Eghbal, today the temporary suspension of travel by Point Four personnel in the area in which the Americans were slain will have no effect on the U.S. aid program in the country.

LeMay Named Air Force Vice Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, ardent champion of long-range atomic air power, is being moved up to the second ranking command of the U.S. Air Force.

The Pentagon announced today that the four-star general, head of the Strategic Air Command for more than eight years, will become vice chief of staff. He will move into the vacancy created by the promotion of Gen. Thomas D. White to chief of staff.

The Defense Department announcement about LeMay's transfer to Washington headquarters followed by a few hours official confirmation of a series of changes in the Army command. Those changes include the shifting of Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer from the U. N. Command in the Far East and from commander in chief of U. S. forces in the Far East to the Pentagon to become vice chief of staff of the Army.

This becomes effective July 1, the date upon which the Far East Command goes out of business and is merged with the over-all command in the Pacific. Succeeding Lemnitzer as U.N. commander will be Gen. George H. Decker, now deputy commander of U.S. forces in Europe.

The brief, three-line announcement of LeMay's transfer gave no date when the change becomes effective, although it is expected to come soon after July 1.

There were reports that LeMay, who since 1948 has focused his entire attention on the buildup of SAC's long-range, nuclear capabilities, did not desire his transfer and, indeed, took it only upon urging and some negotiating.

Florida Crash Fatal To Baltimore Couple

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 4 (AP)—A vacationing Maryland couple were killed on the new Sunshine State Parkway today when a semi-trailer truck loaded with concrete beams smashed into their automobile.

The two, tentatively identified by the Florida Highway Patrol as Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Mangels of Baltimore, are the first to die in a turnpike accident since the toll road was opened Jan. 25.

The highway patrol said the Mangels' car was headed south when it crossed the turnpike's center strip and started back north.

The truck was driven by Robert Miller, 32-year-old Negro employed by Leonard Bros. Transfer Co., of Miami. He was reported in serious condition.

Third Graders Look At Budget

RICHMOND, Va., April 4 (AP)—The third grade at John B. Cary School put out the first edition of its own newspaper today, the "3-Hi-Times." Included was this story, headlined "Budget":

"Eisenhower made a big budget and Congress wants to cut it down. Eisenhower told Congress to cut it down and Congress passed the buck to Eisenhower again. Now they are arguing in a friendly, polite way about who should cut it. In the meantime, the budget is as fat as ever."

Three Unions Await Verdict By AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council will decide next month whether three affiliated unions have taken required clean-up steps to avert suspension.

The council on Feb. 5 disciplined the three unions, the Allied Industrial Workers, Laundry Workers and Distillery Workers. All three had been involved in welfare fund disclosures before a Senate committee two years ago.

Britain's overseas air forces, where they face the challenge of Communist power, will be equipped with atomic bombs. This applies especially to forces in West Germany, which is to be halved in strength in the coming 12 months, and presumably to RAF units in Southeast Asia.

As to the army, Britain will maintain a central reserve at home to act as a sort of fire brigade force in case emergencies should flare in any overseas possession where garrisons have been cut. It will have fast-moving air and sea transportation available.

NAM Official Offers Plan For Cutting Tax Of Upper, Middle Income Groups

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP) — A five-year plan for reducing the income taxes of upper and middle income groups to a top of 35 per cent was proposed today by an official of the National Association of Manufacturers.

John C. Bosted, treasurer and business manager of the NAM, told a Kiwanis Club luncheon the plan would "permit savings of middle and upper income groups to flow into small business and other productive enterprises."

He said this would mean "increasing job opportunities for our growing labor force; production of goods for our expanding population and generally raising the standard of living for all the people."

"Federal income taxes are so high in the middle and upper income groups at present that individual incentive is hampered if not choked altogether," Bosted added.

"Businessmen must recognize that the government's present program of discriminatory individual and corporate income tax rates is a challenge to the whole framework of this nation's freedom."

He called for serious consideration of the problem because "the source of the approximate 265 billion dollars of new investment money that will be needed to provide employment opportunities for the future depends the reduction of these taxes."

Bosted said the NAM plan "over five years would bring top rates of both individual and corporate rates down to a maximum of 35 per cent." He said such changes could be accomplished "without reducing the level of income flowing into the government and without shifting any additional tax burden on specific income groups or specific industries."

New Delhi Headache

NEW DELHI, April 4 (AP)—Tourists are always fascinated by the way bicycles, ox carts, buggies and loaded camels snarl the automobile traffic of the Indian capital. But it's a real headache to the government. It reports 1,129 traffic accidents killed 101 persons in New Delhi last year.

Communist Mistrust

WARSAW, April 4 (AP)—East Germany has banned organized tourist visits to Poland. Czechoslovakia has cut the number of visitors to Poland in half. Informed sources say the moves reflect the distrust of these two Communist bloc nations for present Polish policies.

Dutch Aid Refugees

THE HAGUE, April 4 (AP)—The Dutch government has made a new donation of $2,650,000 for relief of Hungarian refugees in response to renewed appeals for aid from the U. N. Commission for Refugees.

Doomed Negro Files Appeal

ANNAPOLIS, April 4 (AP) — A 26-year-old Baltimore Negro, sentenced to die for the rape of a white woman, today appealed his conviction to the state's highest court.

A court-appointed attorney for Cornelius M. Farrell asked the Court of Appeals to reverse the Baltimore Criminal Court verdict and order a new trial.

Farrell was convicted June 22, 1956, of criminally assaulting a 45-year-old woman. On Sept. 21 he was sentenced by Judge Joseph L. Carter to be executed in the gas chamber.

The woman said she was attacked late at night after she left a tavern. She said she was on her way to get a taxi when she was seized by three Negroes and beaten into unconsciousness.

Judge Carter directed Farrell's attorney to appeal the conviction and sentence.

450,000 Polio Shots Given Baltimoreans

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—Baltimoreans have been given more than 450,000 shots of polio vaccine since the inoculation program started about two years ago, the Baltimore Health Dept. said today.

Of the total, 136,181 doses were given since Jan. 1 of this year with 25,984 given in recent weeks during a stepped-up program to inoculate all persons between 3 months and 40 years.

The rapids of the St. John river in Canada run upstream twice in every 24 hours.

Student Boycott Of College At End

PRINCESS ANNE, Md., April 4 (AP)—Classes were back to normal today at Maryland State College although a ban continued on male students loitering in front of the woman's dormitory.

The ban and other complaints touched off a day-and-a-half boycott of classes by many of the 409 students.

A college spokesman said a list of grievances presented by a student committee had been settled.

As for the loitering ban, the spokesman said the male students may still escort their dates to the dorm and pause and talk to them "like gentlemen" but loitering is out.

Roy Page of Washington, head of the Student Council at the Negro College, said yesterday the restriction apparently had been misunderstood by many students.

He said other complaints about buildings and lack of facilities had been settled.

McKeldin Refutes Beck Contribution Report

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin disclaimed any knowledge today of any campaign contribution from Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters' Union.

A national news magazine reported this week that McKeldin's campaign fund for reelection in 1954 campaign received $5,000 from Beck.

Cab Strike Continues

GRAFTON, W. Va., April 4 (AP)—The strike of the Teamsters Union against Grafton's two cab companies went into its sixth day today with no sign of settlement.

Weston State Hospital Business Manager Fired

WESTON, W. Va., April 4 (AP)—Board of Control President Theodore H. Dorman fired Henry J. McKinley as business manager of Weston State Hospital today and named Ralph N. Steele of Fairmont to succeed him.

McKinley, former Democratic State senator from Elkins, has been indicted in Lewis County on a charge of illegally soliciting hospital employes to contribute to a political fund last year.

Dorman, on a visit to the mental institution, personally relieved McKinley and installed Steele in his place.

The move ended, for the present at least, McKinley's often-stormy political career. Former Gov. Marland appointed him a member of the State Liquor Control Commission in 1955, but the State Senate, in which McKinley had recently completed a term, rejected the appointment.

James M. Donohoe, president of the Board of Control under Marland, then appointed McKinley business manager at the hospital here. He was accused of violating a 1941 law by soliciting political contributions for the so-called "flower fund" in the Democratic primary campaign last April.

McKinley was arrested on information from Doris S. Dodson, secretary of the West Virginia Public Employes Council. She and six other former hospital employes signed affidavits that they quit or were fired for refusing to pay a percentage of their salaries into the political campaign fund.

McKinley is awaiting trial in Lewis County Circuit Court.

Jesse James Met Death 75 Years Ago But Pseudo – Jesses Keep Popping Up

[By The Associated Press]

"That dirty little coward" may have "shot Mr. Howard" but he didn't exactly lay poor Jesse in his grave.

Matter of fact, Jesse's ghost has been one of the liveliest spooks since Hamlet's daddy came back for a chat with the prince.

Jesse James was killed 75 years ago Wednesday, shot in the back by Bob Ford, his buddy to the end. Well, almost to the end.

But, of course, Jesse didn't die. Not in the world of fancy and con-men, he didn't.

Pseudo-Jesses have been popping up like aging and imaginative jacks-in-a-box ever since passing time made positive identification unlikely.

Editor Harold Slater, who keeps the pseudo-James scorecard for the St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press, has seen five.

The first emerged from the "great beyond" in 1932 at the safe old age—for Jesse—of 85.

If it was Jesse—and it wasn't—he'd changed quite a bit. The old Jesse performed behind a gun in banks. This one starred behind the footlights in vaudeville.

He'd wander out on the stage in St. Joe and tell the story of his life—the real, actual, hones' to gosh story of Jesse James. No softshoe.

The climax would come when he drew a beady eye on skeptics in the audience and asked:

"If I am not Jesse James, who am I?"

The act wowed 'em until one night someone hazarded a guess.

"Clara Bow?" he asked hopefully.

As it turned out he wasn't Clara Bow either.

The latest "Jesse" flew out of Oklahoma in 1949, fully equipped with a plausible story and a manager to change the subject when plausability became strained.

He checked his 101 years in the Jesse James Hotel in St. Joe and invited newsmen over to chat for publication.

They interviewed him as he breakfasted in bed—on a handful of doughnuts and a slug of red-eye.

The "Jesse" of '49 asked a court to certify his claim to belated notoriety. Instead, the court promptly demolished it.

Another pretender, as the late-arriving Jesses were known in Missouri, came up with some nifty, physical proof of his claim.

He told newsmen that, as the Jesse of old, he had buried a gun under a tree next to his home. Would they like to come out and see it? They certainly would.

A little digging and there it was, a rusty old pistol that could have been buried 60 years—or 60 hours, for that matter.

Unfortunately, no one had told the pretender that the James house had been moved since Jesse's day.

Even Jesse's dog got into the pretending act.

The auctioneer who put Jesse's personal belongings on the block sold about 15 dogs billed as "Jesse's own personal hound."

The parade of pretenders appears to have passed the reviewing stand by now. Time has crept beyond the point of probability. Jesse would now be an unlikely 109.

The three-story frame house in which he was killed is still standing. It's one of Missouri's better tourist attractions. Admission: 50 cents.

The house is on a main road only a couple of blocks from the home of a killer of lesser note—Mrs. Bonny Heady, who died in the chair not long ago for the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Grenlease.

Hero or villain, Jesse was taken seriously enough in Missouri 75 years ago to have a lot of children named after him.

Recently, the probate judge of Platte County settled six estates in one year in which the deceased bore the given names of "Jesse James."

Now, however, the old outlaw is not taken too seriously—except possibly in the city where he was killed.

After all, he's the only man who ever died in St. Joe who rates a biography (three inches) in the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

Device Built By Boy Can't Lose At Tic Tac Toe

ALAMEDA, Calif., April 4 (AP) — An electric computer which plays an unrestricted game of tic tac toe against a human opponent has been built here by a scientifically minded 15-year-old high school student.

Unlike most such machines, this one permits its opponent to make the first play and puts no restrictions on his moves. Also, it sometimes develops a case of "nerves" says its inventor, Edward McLaughlin.

Its temperament is due mainly to its more than 1,000 soldered connections, and to slight variations in commercial types of relays, resistors and rectifiers, Edward said.

However, the human contender can't win. The best he can get is a tie. If he makes one false move, the machine bangs through with three blobs of red light in a row among the nine squares and gives a victorious squawk via buzzer.

Edward said he is considering rewiring the computer so the human player can win once in a while—just to keep him interested.

The machine consists of a playing console about the size of two cigar boxes laid end-to-end, a 27x26-inch panel containing more than 70 telephone type relays, and a power unit which converts house hold current into 48-volt direct current.

At retail the cost of the material would be about $700—a high price to pay for playing the game and never winning. Edward said the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. helped out by supplying the relays and power unit in the interests of science.

Edward is the son of Harry J. McLaughlin, an electronics specialist in the Office of Naval Research in San Francisco and is thinking of a career in electrical engineering. His computer will be displayed at the Bay Area Science Fair which opens in San Francisco Saturday.

It is possible for an observer in an airplane to see a submarine submerged to a depth of about 50 to 60 feet.

Monks Met Part Way

COLOMBO, April 4 (AP)—The Ceylon government has gone part way to meet angry demands of Buddhist monks by banning the shooting of all wild life on Ceylon for the rest of the year. The monks want shooting banned permanently. Their anger was aroused when the King of Nepal on a state visit was allowed to shoot a deer in a game sanctuary.

Students Visit Peiping

HONG KONG, April 4 (AP)—The first foreign students to visit China as tourists since the Communists seized power have arrived in Peiping. Previous student visitors were members of official delegations. Peiping radio said the students from France, Britain, Israel, Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia are guests of the All-China Students Federation.

There are 200 different types of cheese.

Tangled Evidence

JOHANNESBURG, April 4 (AP) — Johannes Steyn, 46, drew a four-month sentence for bigamy after the court untangled this evidence: He used documents of his divorce from his first wife to marry his third wife without getting a divorce from his second wife.

Midway Island Gooney Birds Score Over Navy

WHIDBEY ISLAND, Wash., April 4 (AP)—The Navy reluctantly conceded today that those contrary Midway Island gooney birds appear to have scored again.

Whidbey Island Naval Air Station says it has received word from the Midway Fish and Wildlife Service that two of the four big albatross-like birds released here March 23 are back home on the Pacific isle, some 3,000 miles away.

The birds were brought here as part of a Navy plan to locate them elsewhere than Midway. A spokesman said the gooneys are breeding so rapidly they've become an air traffic hazard and the Navy has been carrying them to distant points to determine how far they must be taken so they won't return home.

Air Squadron VP40 brought the four here last month. Heads of the big white birds were dyed pink and they were released March 23.

The Navy said Midway reported one of the birds covered the 3,000 miles in 10 days. The second checked in two days later. The Canadian Wildlife Service at Victoria, B. C., found a third badly injured and ordered it destroyed.

The fourth is unaccounted for, the Navy said, but may be living it up on some desert isle.

Study Group Named

ANNAPOLIS, April 3 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin named a 17-member committee yesterday to study sub-standard housing conditions in Washington County.

Headed by State's Atty. Tom Kaylor, the group was created as a result of a resolution introduced in the Legislature by Dels. Berkson and Porter (R-Washington).

Linoleum was first produced in England, where most of the subsequent developments of importance have taken place.

Reds Say U.S. Tossed Sirens At Olympians

MOSCOW, April 4 (AP)—The Literary Gazette claimed today that U.S. intelligence services tossed beautiful sirens in the best Mata Hari tradition at Soviet athletes during the 1956 Olympic games at Melbourne, Australia.

The newspaper added happily that the Russian athletes were able to resist the head-spinning Western charms of the girls and keep their minds on such things as running, boxing and weightlifting.

The account also charged that the Soviet athletes had to elude "experienced provocators" who tried to kidnap them and agents who tried to plant phonysecret documents and anti-Soviet literature on them.

Air Arm Bolstered

MANILA, April 4 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is bolstering its striking power in the Philippines with the supersonic jet F100D.

Seven of the fighter-bombers have been flown in from Japan for temporary duty and more will come later. The Air Force plans eventually to replace all its F86 Sabre Jets here.

Shepilov Calls Boogie Woogie, Rock 'n' Roll "Caveman Orgies"

MOSCOW, April 4 (AP)—Dmitri Shepilov, Soviet ex-foreign minister, blasted boogie woogie and rock 'n' roll today as "wild, caveman orgies" that release "sexual urges and other base emotions and low passions."

Shepilov is now one of eight secretaries of the Communist party Central Committee.

He told a convention of Soviet composers they were forgetting the "glorious traditions of Soviet music for an imitation of jazz music with all its howlings and vocal convulsions." He told them in a 10,000-word speech to stop it.

As foreign minister, Shepilov visited New York last year while attending the U.N. General Assembly. He said the music he heard performed in American parks, restaurants and dance halls "has nothing in common with the kind of music we are accustomed to. These nervous, crazy boogie woogie and rock 'n' roll are wild caveman orgies."

Shepilov asserted the Soviet Union has "the tremendous responsibility to save world culture from bourgeois degeneration, collapse and disaster."

Shepilov also advised the composers how and what they ought to compose "to bring more Socialist realism into Soviet music."

He told them "remember the recent attempts of the black forces of aggression to destroy the will of the Egyptian people fighting for their freedom. . . the attempts of the imperialist barbarians to place the yoke of landlords and capitalists on the necks of the Hungarian people.

"This good material for tragic music," he said.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Herbert Butterworth! I moved the chair from there two weeks ago!"

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, April 4 (INS) — On April 15, shortly before noon, four presidents of corporations housed in the old Brady building at the corner of Cedar and West in downtown New York will pick up the building's bootblack, Sam Rubino, and take him to a splendid luncheon at the Lawyers Club.

Sam has been a tenant of the building since it was opened just 50 years ago. The presidents are George Ferris, Raymond Concrete Pile Co., F. H. Lantry, of the M. H. Treadwell Industrial Construction Co.; Perry Shoemaker, president of the Delaware Lackawana, and William Collins, president of the Walter Kidde Construction Co. Those firms located themselves in the building in 1907 and are still there.

The 23-story building is the work of Cass Gilbert. It is said to have been espied by F. W. Woolworth one day as he came up the bay on a returning trans-Atlantic liner, whereupon he sought out Gilbert and assigned him to raise the Woolworth tower.

Sam Rubino reached New York in 1902 with a letter to a relative. From his flying brushes and shine cloths he educated three sons, is the proud grandfather of a small army and owns a home in Brooklyn. If his four presidential friends have any trouble with the check at the club, Sam can take care of it.

Know any newspaper man who looks like Gregory Peck? You don't, eh. Well, if you run across one, send his name and picture to Dan Terrell, Metro Goldwyn Mayer, 1540 Broadway, N.Y.C. Pictures of Frank Farrell will be selected in the order of their postal cancellation time.

It's a gag connected with Peck's new picture, in which he plays a sportswrtier. The bloke who looks most like him in the estimation of the judges — Inez Robb, Ed Sullivan and myself — gets a weekend in New York on the cuff, with "My Fair Lady" thrown in.

A recent piece here about the woes of hitchhiking brings a terrible account from a reader:

"Once I came down Riverside Drive on a bus. In front of Charlie Schwab's old manse lay a woman, prostrate, in the street. Hundreds of cars passing, but no one slowed. I couldn't take it. I streaked off the bus and found the girl alive, stiff as a corpse, though. My first such encounter.

"Not a car driver would answer my shouts or hand imploring. It was unbelievable. Riverside Drive, civilization, Golden Rule, a woman dying.

"I jeered a chauffeur into shame. He pulled to the curb and with constant protests of fright that he might become 'involved' he helped me load her into his deluxe town car, and off to Roosevelt Hospital where I talked them into letting him go and took all responsibility. I stayed a long time. Finally, they were persuaded she would live. I left.

Cuban politico I know — a very nice man with a wonderful manner and education — was recently feeling sorry for his country and himself over the turbulent political disorders that had just ensued.

"Batista has done some good things for Cuba," he said, "but perhaps it would have been best if he had permitted the elections of four or five years ago to continue as planned. Then, most certainly, Dr. Carlos Hevia, who graduated from your U. S. Naval Academy, would have become president. He is the most honest man in Cuba. If he had been elected I think he would have appointed me in his cabinet and today — today,' my friend concluded, close to tears, "I would have been a millionaire."

Bald Eagle, Alive Or Dead, Protected By Government

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP) — A congressman certainly leads a full and varied life.

If he's lucky, he may even get to work on something like "The case of the dead Hahiaeetus Leucocephalus."

An H. L., in case your Latin has corroded, is the American bald eagle. And since this one was thoroughly dead, you might think that was the end of it. But Rep. Perkins Bass (R) of Peterborough, N. H., found out differently, and yesterday he reported on what he called "The case of the dead Haliaeetus Leucocephalus" to his constituents.

His surprised findings: The might of the U. S. government protects this bird, our national symbol since 1782, dead or alive.

It all began, Bass said, while he was sitting in the House of Representatives, with never a thought of the bald eagle to distress him. But he got a phone call from Emmet Kelly, not to be confused with circus clown Emmett Kelly.

The single "t" Emmet Kelly lives in Berlin, N. H., and he was excited because someone had shot a bald eagle. The body had been found, put in a refrigerator, and what a fitting symbol this would make for the new home of Aerie No. 1664, Fraternal Order of Eagles, in Berlin.

But there were problems, which is where the congressman came in.

The state conservation officer had told Kelly that he was unable to release the bird from the cooler so that it could be stuffed and displayed in the lodge hall. Federal law, he said. Could Bass help?

Bass was told that first he should recheck and make sure the bird was the bald and not its relative, the golden eagle. Recheck made. It was a bald eagle all right.

This brought the issue smack against a law passed by Congress in 1940. Fearing the bird would become extinct, Congress made it not only a federal offense to shoot the bald eagle, but it's also illegal to possess one, dead or alive.

The birds can be displayed only at a public museum, scientific society or zoological park, and if you find one, you had better get in touch with your state conservation officer immediately.

Well, this ruled the lodge out, but Bass was determined to find a suitable final resting place for the eagle. And after considerable calling around, everything was cleared. The Coos County, N. H., Historical Society will get the bird.

"It wasn't an earth-shaking congressional job," Bass admitted, but it had its satisfactions.

"Haliaeetus Leucocephalus will stay in the north country," he said. "May it serve as an inspiration to those who view it in Berlin. And may it encourage greater efforts to save the majestic birds from extinction."

One problem remains unsolved, of course. At Aerie No. 1664 the search goes on for the fitting symbol.

More Than Half U. S. Teachers 26-35 Are Men

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—If they had to start all over, three-fourths of America's 1,100,000 public school teachers probably would teach again.

More than half of the teachers between the ages of 26 and 35 are men—although, over-all, women outnumber men by a little more than three to one.

The average teacher's salary is $4,055 per year.

Nearly a third of the married men teachers work outside of school all year around, more than a third during the summer only. The wives of nearly a third work full time. The wives of 10 per cent work part time.

The National Education Assn. reported these findings yesterday from a nationwide sampling which is described as "the first comprehensive survey ever conducted on the professional, economic and social life of the American teacher."

The sample was only one-half of one per cent of all teachers, but NEA research director Sam M. Lambert said that answers to certain "control" questions checked with facts known to apply to all teachers. As a result, Lambert said, the NEA is reasonably certain its survey gives an accurate composite picture.

The picture of the woman school teacher as an old maid, the survey disclosed, is out of date. Fifty-four per cent of women teachers are married—about the same proportion as among all American working women—and another 12 per cent are widows.

As for the old idea that teachers are hemmed in with social restrictions, such as bans on smoking, dancing and dating: two-thirds said they felt no such restrictions and only about two per cent said they felt them to a serious extent.

The report was full of such big and little surprises, but perhaps the biggest one was that there are more men than women teachers in the 26-35 age bracket.

Immediately after 35 the difference begins to switch sharply in favor of women. Dr. Hazel Davis, who conducted the survey, said one reason probably is that by the time a man hits 35 his family is beginning to become so large that he has to get out of teaching to support it.

That he may do so reluctantly is indicated by replies.

Manila Pact Exercise

SINGAPORE, April 4 (AP)—Air and sea maneuvers of the anti-Communist Manila Pact powers will be April 24-May 2 in the South China Sea and the Gulf of Siam. Military units from Australia, France, New Zealand, Thailand, Britain and the United States will take part in the operation, known as Astra.

Navy's New Jet Training Plane, Grumann F9F8T, Quite A Bird

EL CENTRO, Calif., April 4 (AP)—The Navy's newest jet training plane, the Grumann F9F8T, is showing off in flight for visitors at the annual naval air weapons meet here this week. It is quite a bird.

The trainer is almost the same as the F9F8 Cougar fighter which is operational on virtually every carrier in the fleet.

The main difference: An extra cockpit was built on the front so it can carry two men.

It's heavier than the Cougar—and almost 25 miles an hour faster. That means it is transsonic—flirts with the speed of sound—and can also go supersonic at high altitude if its nose is pushed downward a bit.

Now in volume production, the Navy's swept-wing jet trainer has started entering fleet units only within the past three months. It's a versatile craft—can carry almost all the armament that the regular Cougar can—and it could be used as a fighter as well as trainer if the need arose. It carries two 20 m.m. cannon instead of the four in the Cougar, but like the Cougar can pack a deadly load of rockets, guided missiles or atomic bombs. Another feature of the F9F8T has to do with its canopy, a long glass enclosure that slides forward on tracks to cover both cockpits.

First signal transmitted by wireless was the letter "S" — three dots.

Oakland Boys Held In Series Of Thefts

Two young Garrett County boys who were nabbed while looting an Oakland store Wednesday have admitted to a series of well-organized robberies, according to police.

The youths, both 14 years of age, have been conducting a "round-the-clock" robbery schedule in Oakland for the past month.

At 3 a. m. Wednesday the boys were caught in the act as they were loading their stolen loot into a stolen pickup truck in the rear of the Firestone Store, Third Street, Oakland.

Officer Porter DeWitt of the Oakland Police nabbed the pair as they loaded items, valued at $1 172.24, into a pickup truck they had stolen earlier.

The loot included eight rifles, valued at more than $750, two radios, 78 boxes of shells, three rifle telescopes and other smaller items.

State's Attorney Stephen R. Pagenhardt said yesterday the robbery was well planned. One youth told his parents he was going to spend the night with his grandfather.

After leaving home the boy went to the home of his accomplice where the two went to bed. After making sure the second boys' parents were asleep the pair crept out an upstairs window and started on the spree.

First they stole the pickup truck from A. D. Naylor to use on the job. Then they broke into the Firestone Store and started looting, officials stated.

During extensive questioning and investigation the boys admitted, police said, to breaking into and robbing the Englanders Drug Store, Oakland Drug Store, Carroll's Sports Shop, Hubs Harness Shop, Browning Hardware, Smouse's Grocery Store, Western Auto Store, Five and Dime Store and the Oakland Radio Company. The robberies occurred during the past month, Pagenhardt said.

The boys, who were aided by four others on some of the jobs, have also admitted to stealing two automobiles for "joy rides."

Authorities said the boys would steal the cars, steal dealers plates, steal some gasoline and then take a ride through the Oakland area.

After each ride the boys would return the vehicles to the used car lots.

The two boys who are apparently the ringleaders are being detained in Garrett County Jail at Oakland.

Assisting with the investigation was Sheriff Paul Fisher, Deputy Sheriff James Frantz and Police Chief Henry Arnold.

Man's Body Found Under Coal Pier

BALTIMORE, April 4 (AP) —The body of Charles P. Willard, 61, of Frederick County, was found today under a coal pier where he worked as a carpenter.

His wife, of Doubs, Md., reported his disappearance when he failed to return the weekend of March 23-24.

Police theorized Willard fell into the water at Locust Point after returning to a barge after work. The body was identified by Eugene C. Mills, of Linthicum Heights, a nephew who also works at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad pier.

The armadillo lives in burrows which it digs quickly with its forefeet.

Enlistees Join Marine Reserve Here

Petition Is Filed

The major portion of the petition requesting a referendum on a $500,000 local bond issue was turned in at the City Hall yesterday by Charles Z. Heskett, former city attorney.

The list carries more than 3,400 names, Heskett said, and from 400 to 500 more names will be turned in today. A total of 2,549 approved names are necessary.

Filing of the petition has helped avert a technical legal question which had City Hall officials bothered yesterday. Home rule law specifies that any petition for a referendum must be filed on or before 40 days after the question in issue is passed by Council. The controversial bond issue was passed by council vote on Monday, February 25.

The 40th day, spokesmen pointed out, is Saturday — a non-working day for City Hall employes. The customary practice in such a situation would be to accept the petition on the next working day — in this instance on Monday. However, no hard and fast rule could be found which applies to the situation, and should more names be submitted today a possible law suit would be averted.

According to the home rule law, the petitions can also be presented by registered mail, but this also cuts down the number of hours available to secure additional signatures since the Post Office closes at noon on Saturdays.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said he would not want to do anything which would influence the filing of the petition, pointing out that it is the right of citizens to ask for a vote on any controversial issue.

City officials pointed out that persons opposed to the petition could raise a point of law if the petitions were not filed until Monday.

Once the petitions are presented at Monday's council session, plans will be made to verify the signatures. Estimates on this work have varied, but the mayor said that with additional help the work could be completed within a week. This would not have to be done however, unless the council decided to hold a special election instead of delaying the vote until the June 1958 municipal election.

As is the custom, council last August appropriated money for such a contingency as a special election.

Statistics Show County's Business Activity Is Increasing

Allegany County, businesswise, has been on the upswing since World War II according to statistics compiled here.

From the end of the calendar year of 1954 until September 1956 the number of persons actually working in "covered" employment increased 1,173.

"Covered" employment includes those jobs in industries hiring one or more persons who are under the unemployment benefits provisions of the Maryland Department of Employment Security.

The department in its figures for this county shows that in 1945 the average employment in covered industry amounted to 22,523.

This rose to 25,074 in 1948 and then dropped to a low of 16,743 in 1954.

Then at the end of the calendar year 1955 the total had climbed up to 18,069.

The last figures compiled for publication by the department that extend through September 1956 show the working force had risen again to 18,916.

It does not cover the total labor force, which includes those who are agricultural workers, the unemployed and the self-employed.

According to statistics furnished by I. J. Forsyth, director of the research and analysis division of the Department Employment Security, the total work force has jumped appreciably since July 1954.

Comparable totals show 33,400 in the Allegany County labor force in July 1954; the same in July 1955, but an increase of 750 in July 1956.

Utilities, usually a criterion of the times and lives of a population that they serve, also have compiled optimistic figures of their growth in Allegany County since World War II.

Robert Garner, manager of the Cumberland District of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, reports the number of individual phones in this county has increased 46 per cent.

This means that in 11 years from January 1, 1945, to January 1, 1956, the telephone company nearly doubled its system in this county.

The January 1, 1945 total of phones was 10,359; January 1, 1950, 15,166, and January 1, 1956, 19,196.

Henry W. Price, manager of the Cumberland district of the Fotomac Edison Company, also reported a boost in the power business.

Based on a total of individual meters, the Potomac Edison serves 24,372 as of December 31, 1956.

On December 31, 1945, the PE was reading 18,808 meters in Allegany County, and by December 1950 the total had risen to 23,052.

Carl C. Robbins, district manager of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, also pointed to the rising number of gas meters placed in service in this county.

The gas meter total has increased from 16,938 in 1945 in this county to 19,167 in 1950 and still again to 19,860.

Cumberland during those 11 years showed a jump of 1,796; McCoole, 11; Frostburg, 496; Lonaconing, 367, and Westernport, 252 for an overall increase of 2,922 meters.

Motor vehicle registrations similarly have known a steady rise from 20,023 in 1944 to 24,936 in 1951; to 26,365, 1956, and to 28,001 in 1957.

$719,000 Planned For College

Among the items approved this week by the Legislature for statewide capital improvements was one for $719,000 which Governor McKeldin had recommended for work at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Earmarked for the college was $655,000 for a new laboratory school, and $64,000 for additional athletic facilities.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State, said $610,000 will be used for actual construction of the laboratory school, while $45,000 has been earmarked for site improvements such as roads and walkways.

The money for athletic facilities will be used for expansion of the program and relocation of the facilities at Compton Hall, Hardesty said.

Improvements recommended by the governor which were also untouched by the Legislature included $26,500 for Deep Creek Lake Park, and $6,900 for Swallow Falls State Park.

The Deep Creek Lake Park money was broken down into $5,000 for bath houses and development of the beach, $13,250 to increase the water supply, and $8,000 for expansion of sanitary facilities. The Swallow Falls State Park money will be used for road construction.

The legislators also approved $10,000 for development of a recreation area at Dan's Mountain which had not been recommended by the governor.

Overall, Western Maryland made a "profit" of $23,450 when the Legislature got through deciding what capital improvements will be made by the state this year.

An item of $14,500 for construction of a headquarters building at Cunningham Falls in Frederick County was deleted after being recommended by the State Planning Commission and approved by Gov. McKeldin.

The legislators also cut out $20,000 for equipment at a new building at the State Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown.

But the legislators added three items totaling $48,000 which had not been recommended.

They put in $43,000 to repair Gath Hall in the state park in Frederick County, and $5,000 for landscaping around the old stone arch bridge over the Casselman River in Garrett County.

The following improvements recommended by the governor were untouched by the Legislature:

Fort Frederick State Park: $9,500 for water supply.

Big Run Recreation Park: $11,200 for sanitary facilities.

South Mountain - Washington Monument Park: $100,000 to buy 4,000 acres to serve as a water shed conservation area.

State Reformatory for Males: $140,000 for pre-parole camp with $100 beds and $6,550 for road improvement.

State School for Deaf in Frederick: $35,000 for new lighting system, $6,600 for printing equipment, $6,000 for road improvement.

Fort Tonoloway State Park in Washington County: $6,500 for water supply.

Gambrill State Park: $18,000 for storage building.

Liquor Board Cites Midland Legion Post

The three licensees of American Legion Post 169, Vale Summit Road, Midland, have been ordered to appear before the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners at 10 a. m. Tuesday, April 16, to show cause why their license to sell intoxicating beverage in the county should not be suspended or revoked.

The order notes that Joseph G. Robertson, Earl Mills and Francis J. Cullen were tried March 28 by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason and were convicted of permitting consumption of alcoholic beverages on Sunday in violation of Section 83 (f) of the Alcoholic Beverages Laws. They received a $50 suspended fine.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir, was ordered to serve a copy of the order upon the licensees by today. It was signed by Walter C. Capper, chairman, and Stanley O. Hamilton and Howard W. Vandegrift, as members.

4-H Tractor Sessions Will End On Monday

The last Allegany County 4-H Club tractor maintenance session of the season will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Heiskell garage in Frostburg, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold.

It is planned to honor all the boys who bring their record books and complete the program at a banquet on Thursday, April 25. The place has not been determined but the speaker will be Guy Gienger, agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland.

To Hold Revival

Bethel United Evangelical Brethren Church will begin two weeks of revival meetings Sunday, according to Rev. Raymond Campbell, pastor.

The service each evening will start at 7:30 and will feature special singing and a sermon by the pastor.

$100,000 Suit Removed Here

A $100,000 damage suit docketed nearly a year ago in Washington County Circuit Court by an Anne Arundel County couple has been removed to Allegany County Circuit Court for trial.

Angela K. Scardina and George Robert Scardina, her husband, of 5332 Waseman Avenue, Anne Arundel County, brought the suit last April 18 against Robert L. Smith of Rohrersville in Washington County.

The Scardinas contend they were both seriously injured when their eastbound car on U. S. Route 40 was involved in a collision with Smith's westbound car near the intersection with U. S. Route 40A near Frederick. The accident occurred March 25, 1956.

Associate Judge D. K. McLaughlin signed the order Monday removing the case to Allegany County.

Also docketed yesterday was a $500 damage suit and its compromise settlement for $333.75. Shelva Jean Iliff, an infant, by Gladys M. Iliff and Paul Iliff, her parents and next friends, 619 Maryland Avenue, brought suit against John Robert Miller, 642 North Mechanic Street.

The Iliff girl sustained a fractured left clavicle in an accident last December 11 on Old Furnace Road in nearby West Virginia while riding in Miller's car. The settlement was signed by Gorman E. Getty, attorney for the plaintiff, and W. Earle Cobey, attorney for the defendant.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 4 (INS)—Remember the book "The Screaming Mimi," a best seller by Fredric Brown, which sold two million copies? Well, it's for Anita Akberg and it's her next picture after she finishes "Trouble in Paris" now being filmed in Europe with Bob Hope.

Harry Joe Brown told me that in association with Bob Fellows he is producing this story in which Anita will play a daring dancer and the story involves a nude statuette. I quote: "We won't pull any punches and the picture will be tailored to her talents." Why, Harry!

Robert Bleese will do the screenplay which I should say is a great change of pace from his "Magnificent Obsession," and Gus Oswald has been signed to direct the exotic Miss Ekberg.

The fascinating story of Richard Harding Davis, America's most famous war correspondent and well known author, has been acquired by Robert Ryan and Anthony Mann and will be made as an independent venture.

Bob and his partner have bought "The Magnificent Mr. Douglas" by Stuart Hamill, which is a fictitious character who might be a twin of the great Davis.

I believe that some time ago MGM had a project going on Richard Harding Davis' life, but it seems to have been dropped. At least Benny Thau said it is not on their immediate schedule.

Harding was married to Bessie McCoy, beautiful show girl, and their romance was one of the front page stories many years ago.

Tomorrow morning at the MGM sales meeting, Joseph R. Vogel, president of Loew's Incorporated, will tell the world that he has signed Sol C. Siegel to continue his independent production for MGM release.

First, Sol will produce "Merry Andrew," starring Danny Kaye, which he starts next month. Then, under his new contract, his first picture will be "Some Came Running," the new James Jones novel, which James Patrick is scripting.

Sol has had a distinguished career and to his credit recently at MGM are "High Society," "Man on Fire" and "Les Girls," the latter two not yet released.

I promised Henry Fonda that I'd take a look at "12 Angry Men," his own picture which he brought in for $340,000 in 27 days. He's very proud of the picture, and well he might be.

I saw it at my home and it's a strong, dramatic story with nary a woman in it. One thing I particularly liked was that it did not go on and on and on; it's just the right length. An astounding thing is that the action never once leaves a jury room, but you're never bored for a minute. Be sure and see it.

When designer Jean Louis received a call from the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Washington he was worried, like any of us might be. He says he was considerably relieved when the T-man merely said he wanted to know where Marlene Dietrich obtained the swan feathers used to make her coat in her Las Vegas act.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Red Skelton is the only comedian on TV who has had his weekly show renewed. Jack Benny and Bob Hope, of course, are not on every week.

The honorable David Bowes-Lyon, uncle of Queen Elizabeth II, recalled to me that he had met me at a dinner party given by the late Sir Alexander Korda in London.

Sue and Alan Ladd are taking some of their dough to buy a new building going up on Wilshire and Rexford Drive in Beverly Hills. They'll call it the Jaguar building after Alan's Independent company.

One of Frank Sinatra's songs at the Mocambo tomorrow night will be "The Lady Is a Tramp" which he'll sing in "Pal Joey."

Bobby Sherwood, TV panelist, has come out here to play the role of a piano player in "Pal Joey." And Ellie Kent, beautiful blonde wife of Jonie Tapps, plays a small part in the same movie.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Eye Sparkle Treatment

Nature stands ready to supply fresh sparkle to your eyes every morning. Sleep eight hours out of every twenty-four and sparkle is yours. But how long it lasts depends on you and on care as well as on cosmetics.

Light to work and read by has much to do with it. Women's eyesight is known to be worse than that of their husbands' and children's eyesight because homes are by no means as well lighted as offices, factories, and schools. Analyze your own at-home lighting. Make sure that there's enough light, and remember what the lighting engineers say about using it. They warn against spotlighting work or a page of a book brightly and leaving darkness around it. This causes eye-strain; it's too hard for the eye to take the contrast. There must be general lighting along with specific lighting every time.

Save eyestrain, too, by softening outdoor glare with sunglasses; and, whether you wear corrective glasses or not, have your vision checked regularly.

When the eyes tire during the day, rest them at once. Close them and cup your hands over your eyes to shut out all light. If you can take ten minutes, wring out compresses in mild solutions of salt water or witch hazel and press them against your eyes and lie down. Commercially prepared eye washes are helpful, too, but make sure that the dropper or cup is scrupulously clean and exclusively yours.

And don't forget for a moment that what you're thinking affects the brightness of your eyes. Any sparkle in your thoughts is reflected in your eyes.

Police Receiving Truck Complaints

City Police recently have received a number of complaints about trucks hauling wet sand and stone over the streets, according to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn.

The chief said the people have pointed out that this material is leaking over the streets, causing a bad situation.

Chief Flynn warned owners of these vehicles that they must keep the material tight and in such condition so as not to permit the contents to scatter on the ground.

The scattering of material over streets constitutes a violation of the law, the chief noted, and the drivers will be prosecuted.

The first poster was made by Jules Charet, a Frenchman, in 1867.

Jet Planes And Hearing Aids

The United States Air Force can be expected to be sensitive about noises involved in its operations, considering the criticism directed at it by civilians in almost every area near any of its installations. So it is not difficult to understand why the Air Force has taken notice of recent releases citing Veterans Administration statistics covering the more than 94,000 veterans receiving nearly $60 million annually in compensation and pensions for hearing disabilities. The Air Force doesn't want to take chances of having all those cases charged to jet noises. It therefore carefully points out that this VA caseload dates back to the Spanish-American War and includes service men from the two World Wars, fought before the perfecting of jet planes as weapons of war. By this process of eliminating whole blocks of veterans with hearing deficiencies, the Air Force arrives at a figure of less than 11,000 cases dating from the Korean conflict and subsequent military service.

Of the Korean veterans on the VA list it says 59 per cent have only 10 per cent impairment of hearing, and less than one per cent have complete impairment. In the decade in which the jet plane has been among Air Force weapons, that branch of the American military has been actively engaged in a program to guard its personnel against effects of hazardous noise exposure. And while it says nothing of the effects on the nervous system, doctors who deal with the effect of noise among Air Force men are reassuring on the subject of hearing defects and aircraft noises. They believe that for all practical purposes persons living near Air Force installations have nothing to fear.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Veritas

There is quite a fuss among the Harvard alumni over the choice of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer as the deliverer of the 1957 William James lectures. Dr. Oppenheimer, long associated with atomic fission, testifying concerning himself and friends and colleagues anent Communist affiliations, admitted that he had not told the truth. The Atomic Energy Commission, in a report signed by Lewis L. Strauss, Chairman, and Eugene M. Zuckert and Joseph Campbell, Commissioners, stated:

". . . we find Dr. Oppenheimer is not entitled to the continued confidence of the Government and of this Commission because of the proof of fundamental defects in his 'character.'

"In respect to the criterion of 'associations,' we find that his associations with persons known to him to be Communists have extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint which are to be expected of one holding the high positions that the Government has continuously entrusted to him since 1942. These associations have lasted too long to be justified as merely the intermittent and accidental revival of earlier friendships."

So a group of Harvard alumni, in Boston and New York, organized the Harvard "Veritas" Committee to arouse other alumni and public opinion generally to oppose Dr. Oppenheimer as a Harvard lecturer. The William James lectures on philosophy are supposed to be identified with ethics and wisdom. But William James has been identified with pragmatism, which philosophers of other schools rarely admit is an ethical view of life.

At any rate, the Harvard "Veritas" Committee has accepted Harvard's slogan, "Veritas," meaning Truth, as their motto. Their point is that there is no truth in Dr. Oppenheimer. Before this committee was organized, an alumnus, Kenneth D. Robertson, '29, entered upon considerable correspondence with Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski, '27, who is Chairman of the Board of Harvard Overseers.

I have read this correspondence which runs to many pages and it would seem that Judge Wyzanski lost his temper and threatened to sue Robertson if the latter made Wyzanski's correspondence public. This Robertson did and Wyzanski, so far as I know, has not sued. The Veritas Committee is making this exchange of correspondence available. True, it must be very embarrassing to the learned judge to have his letters read by the hoi polloi because he does not argue too well but pontifically.

Most Americans dislike a big shot taking advantage, particularly of a situation to which the people elevated him. Harry Truman's remarks on his bad blood with Ike show Harry in a better light, because a President who refused to be polite to an ex-President is taking advantage of a man who has no way to fight back. Besides, by all the rules of politics, Eisenhower owes Truman a debt of gratitude, to repay which a dish of scrambled eggs and bacon, with toast and marmalade and good coffee, is not asking too much. Truman, however, does not play golf, his specialty being Mozart.

However, to get back to the Veritas Committee, the likelihood is that the Oppenheimer lectures will take place, in English or Sanscrit, and that numerous scholars will attend and applaud. The mood has changed and even at Columbia University, which is fairly conservative compared to Harvard, the John Dewey Society invited John Gates, the editor of the "Daily Worker," to address them and another student body had Dr. Otto Nathan of New York University who, among other curious activities, is the curator of Albert Einstein's dead brain and I find it difficult to discover what he has done with the aforesaid brain or where it is or why anyone should care much about it now that the great Professor is dead and his brain can produce no more difficult to understand formulae.

However, if Columbia can have Gates and Nathan, may not Harvard have Oppenheimer or for that matter, even Earl Browder who is now a non-Marxist historian? I predict that during the next lecture season, Howard Fast, for years one of the most literate of American Communists, will be lecturing at many universities on how he freed himself from the evils of Stalinism and the curse upon the world of Stalin whom he used so to adore. Even drunks hit the sawdust trail in their search for a cleansed soul and a virtuous life. Shall a Communist not be given the opportunity that every drunk has? Glory be!

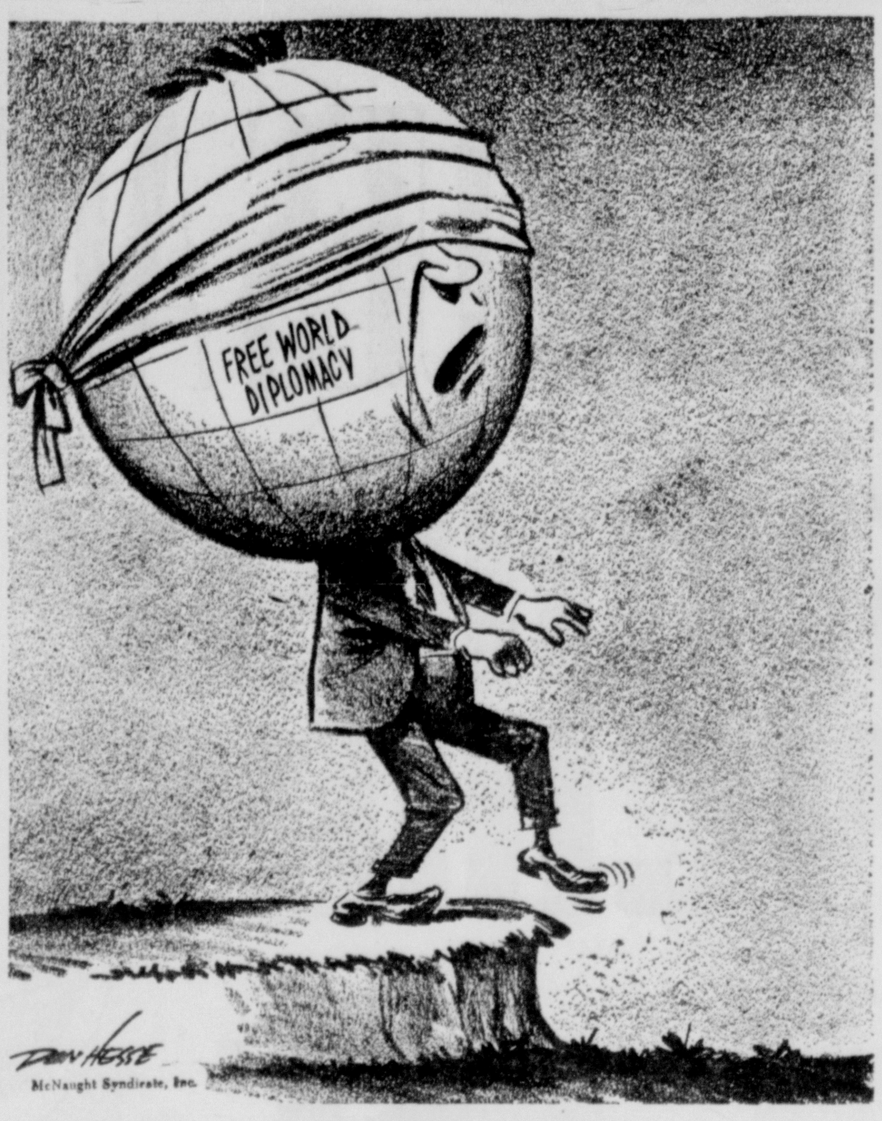
You Never Know How Deep These 'Brinks' Are



Some Questions On The Dulles 'White Paper'

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Exhibit A in the forthcoming inquiry into American Policy in the Middle East ought to be a new book about Secretary of State John Foster Dulles by John Robinson Beal of Time magazine.

The book contains a long and passionate defense of the Dulles Middle Eastern policies, and according to the author it "benefits from personal interviews with (Dulles) which have provided insight into his official actions." In short, it is a kind of White Paper, or lawyer's brief, for the Dulles policies, based on facts and interpretations supplied in large part by Dulles himself.

As such it is a fascinating document. A previous report has described how Beal reveals that Dulles consciously brought on the Middle Eastern crisis by withdrawing the American offer to aid in building the Aswan Dam in the most brutal and insulting way possible. The rest of the Middle Eastern section of the book is designed to prove that, in thus forcing a Middle Eastern showdown, Dulles brought off successfully "a truly major gambit in the cold war," greatly to the benefit of the United States.

Because of the evident authority with which Beal writes, this thesis deserves further scrutiny. The Beal, or perhaps Dulles-Beal, version of the crisis may be summarized as follows:

Egypt's Colonel Nasser reacted violently to the calculated slap in the face, as Dulles had expected. He nationalized the Suez Canal, and thus "precipitated the sharpest crisis the Western Powers had faced in the Middle East, and before it was over produced a tremendously shocking split among the Western Powers themselves."

The split occurred because the British, after much "wavering," joined the French in a "plot which the French had already cooked up with the Israeli." In so doing, Dulles' opposite number, British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, consciously "misled" the American government. The "Israeli-French-British plot to seize the canal" made President Eisenhower "angry clear through." Throughout the crisis, however, Dulles followed a "consistent and purposeful" policy.

"Facing a weak and misguided neutral, Dulles believed that the best course was to swing moral opinion to bear on him and show him, if possible, in what way he was misguided. Despite British-French rejection of this theory, the Dulles method prevailed in the end." The Dulles method prevailed because he "weilded the influence of the United States so vigorously that fighting was stopped within a week. This was 'waging peace' with genuine skill."

Thus the end result of the Dulles-forced Middle Eastern showdown was a big net plus for the United States. It created "a completely new understanding of motives in 'neutral' parts of the world which added immensely to the stature of the United States as moral leader in the fight for peace."

This is a remarkably hopeful version of the crisis, but there appear to be a couple of gaps in it. In the first place, the British decision to join the "plot" may have been an act of folly, but it was not an act of insanity. The British became convinced, with reason, that the Dulles policy, however "moral" and "consistent and purposeful," would not prevent the violently hostile Nasser from gaining total control of the canal — a prospect they regarded, also with reason, as intolerable.

The intolerable prospect is now a reality. From here on out, the Western Europeans will have to get used to the unhappy feeling of Nasser's knife at their economic throats. If Nasser has been shown "in what way he was misguided," he gives no signs of it. Indeed, from his point of view, his policy has not been misguided at all, but triumphantly successful.

Moreover, the Beal brief for Dulles leaves the real key question unanswered. Why was the "influence of the United States" wielded in such a way that Nasser was relieved of all pressure from Britain, France, and Israel, while at the same time no American influence of any sort was brought to bear on Nasser for a commitment on the canal or anything else?

Give Sec. Dulles all due credit for energy and perspicacity, and our Allies all due blame for folly. Until the key question is answered, it will be hard to accept the theory that Dulles' decision to force a Middle Eastern showdown was really quite the brilliant diplomatic gambit his biographer claims for him.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

One thing about Western diplomacy is we sure have scrambled Columbus' egg.

Endeavoring to follow the machinations and gimmickries of international cartels is like shaking your overcoat out of a moth.

We did better when we sent Steve Decatur after the Barbary pirates with instructions to return victorious or on his cafeteria platter.

We did better when Roosevelt, Taft or Wilson said, "Pecardis alive or Raisuli dead." In those old days we didn't pay ransom and call it relief. We didn't cough up tribute and call it lend-lease.

If you don't take a stand somewhere you can't sell hot dogs. Or win a war.

We are the biggest and strongest nation in the world. And getting pushed around like a hand truck on Seventh Avenue.

Let's get back to the old militant days when men were men. And Sinclair Lewis took a punch at a floor lamp in a Manhattan club.

All our diplomats have gotten so far are the words and music for Gromyko's strolls.

87 Senators Ducked Roll Call Vote On Tax Benefits For Oil Industry

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A little-noticed but vitally important incident took place on the Senate floor the other day. It occurred in full view of the press galleries, but very little appeared in the newspapers about it.

Two senators, first a Republican, Williams of Delaware; then a Democrat, Douglas of Illinois, tried to get a roll-call vote on a move to reduce the tax concessions given to the big oil and gas companies. They could not get even 10 Senators to raise their hands.

The 10 hands needed were not necessarily to vote against the oil companies, but to record the vote either for or against oil. But 87 Senators ducked out, didn't want the public to know how they voted on oil.

When you couple this with the hundreds of thousands of dollars dumped into the Presidential and Senate campaigns last year, it indicates a political circle of great importance to the American people.

The circle goes round and round, like this: "The oil men get tax concessions. They use the money they save on taxes to elect their friends as Senators and their man as President. Then their Senators cooperate by voting for continued tax concessions."

Little of this, however, was recorded for the public to read and know about.

Here is the full story of what happened.

Honest Tax Champion

Sen. Williams is a stanch Republican turkey farmer and feed dealer who, coming from the du-Pont state of Delaware, could not easily be elected if he were not a conservative. He had been waging a long-time campaign for honest taxes and honest tax collection. For a time, he got some support from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who stated publicly that the 27½ per cent depletion allowance given the oil industry was too much.

Before the corporate tax bill came up for renewal last week, therefore, Williams appealed to Humphrey to support a reduction. Humphrey declined. Williams nevertheless moved in the Senate to reduce the 27½ per cent tax bonanza to 15 per cent. He got nowhere.

So two fellow Republicans, Aiken of Vermont and Potter of Michigan, gave him whispered advice to try a compromise at 20 per cent. He did so. But a roar of negative votes drowned this proposal too.

Those leading the "no" chorus were Democrats Lyndon Johnson of Texas, great friend of the oil lobby, Russell Long of Louisiana, who owns underwater oil lands in the Gulf of Mexico; and Frank Carlson (Kans.) with Everett Dirksen (Ill.), Republicans.

Williams then tried for a show of hands to get a roll-call vote to require Senators' names to be recorded for and against the oil companies. He got only four hands: Douglas (Ill.), Neuberger (Ore.), Democrats; with Aiken and his own (Williams') hand, Republicans.

Then Douglas, a former economics professor at the University of Chicago and a tax expert, proposed a further compromise. He urged that little oil companies with a net income of less than $1,000,000 be allowed the full 27½ per cent tax benefit. Companies with a net income of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, he proposed, should get 20 per cent allowance. Companies making more than $5,000,000, he moved, should get 15 per cent.

This, however, was also roared down. Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson led the chorus.

Pocketbook Senator

Then Douglas asked for a roll-call vote. He needed 10 hands. The Democrats pride themselves on being the champions of little business and the common man. Only six of them, however, were willing to stand up and be counted: Lausche of Ohio, McNamara of Michigan, Humphrey of Minnesota, Carroll of Colorado, Neuberger and Douglas. Three Republicans also raised their hands: Javits of New York, Aiken and Williams.

While Williams and Douglas made repeated pleas for a roll-call vote, Senators Long, Kerr, Carlson and Dirksen, together with Lyndon Johnson, slipped around on the Senate floor, urging colleagues to keep their hands down.

Afterward Sen. Kerr confided to Charlie Murray, son of the elder-statesman Senator from Montana: "If they'd got a roll call, the opposition could have rolled up 40 votes against us."

By "us," he meant the oil companies. Sen. Kerr, through his company, Kerr-McGee, owns $10,000,000 of oil-gas lands, on which he has received a gross income as high as $14,000,000. In 1950 his net was $1,218,627, on which his company paid a tax of only $6,949—as a result of generous tax benefits given the oil industry.

A Senator who has a pocketbook interest in any legislation is not supposed to vote on it, let alone lobby. But Sen. Kerr was busy as a bird-dog blocking any roll call on the oil depletion allowance.

Sen. Kerr's lobbying was highly successful. Only nine Senators voted for a roll call. The so-called liberal Senators who either weren't present or ducked out included: Murray and Mansfield of Montana, the latter being the Democratic whip; Magnuson and Jackson of Washington; Morse of Oregon; Green and Pastore of Rhode Island; Hennings and Symington of Missouri; Sparkman and Hill of Alabama; Kennedy of Massachusetts; O'Mahoney of Wyoming; Scott of North Carolina; and Gore of Tennessee.

Though Gore was minus on the roll call, he did a great service to the country by carefully recording the recent contributions of the big oil companies. Here is part of the oil roll call:

The Rockefeller family of Standard Oil, $152,000 to Ike; the Pew family of Sun Oil, $216,000 to Ike; the Mellon family of Gulf Oil, $100,000 to Ike; officials of Tidewater Oil, $27,000 to Ike, plus officials of Phillips, Skelly Oil, Cities Service, Atlantic Refining, Richfield, Texas, Socony, Standard of California, Standard of Ohio, Standard of Indiana, Standard of N. J.—a total of $344,000 to the Republicans; $14,000 to the Democrats.

This includes the major oil companies, not the independent oil men. Many of the latter contributed to individual Democratic Senators.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

The dove on yon withered bow,
That lately lost her mate
Has found another comrade now
Such changes all await.
Like her let us forget our woe
And not be killed with sorrow
If I should quit your arms tonight
And chance to die before 'twas light
I would advise you—and you might Love again tomorrow.
—Freneau

Which purchase takes a woman longer to decide on, a hat or a pair of shoes? The general opinion is that it takes a woman longer to decide on a hat than any other article. However, according to recent checking on the matter, it is when buying shoes that a female takes longest to make up her mind. An indication of this is that a Stockholm, Sweden, shoe store offers a 10 per cent rebate on shoes to any feminine customer making a choice within 10 minutes.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. My friend claims "Father Bill" Daly, the great trainer of thoroughbreds and inspiration of the racing term "Off on a Bill Daly," died broke. How about this? A. Your friend is wrong. "Father Bill" made much money and so conserved his resources that in his later years he had an income from investments of $14,000 a year. Q. Is there a club for divorcees in New York? A. Not that I know of. Only such organization I know of is the "Guys and Dolls Divorcees Club" of San Francisco, which has about 100 members . . . Q. Are you familiar with an entertainer of the past named Bee Palmer? My father says she had a better figure than Marilyn Monroe. A. Bee Palmer was a dancer from Chicago who introduced that dance known as "The Shimmy" to New York. As to Miss Palmer's figure, I think your father is right.

GUIDE TO GALS

Women born under Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) are very sophisticated. They know most of the answers by the time they reach the age of 16. They like to appear more simple than they are. As bachelorettes they like to keep a man guessing. As wives they are very clever husband handlers. As a rule, they are not unusually demonstrative but can be very affectionate when properly inspired. Or so say the stargazers.

SIDELIGHTS

Only one fourth of the divorcees in the United States are collecting alimony. If you have an ex-wife to whom you are paying alimony you might call this to her attention so she will know how fortunate she is . . . All the bars in Eire are closed on St. Patrick's Day. There are no parades. Everybody goes to Mass.

GREATEST

Who can be rated the greatest football coach of the 20th Century? Perhaps your young son will ask you that question so be ready with the right answer. Don't tell him it was Knute Rockne. That's wrong. It was Gil Dobie, who at the University of Washington, coached nine undefeated teams in a row. Yes, sir, that's right. Dobie's teams didn't lose a game in nine seasons.

BRIEFLY

It was Wilson Mizner, who said, "Women can instantly see through each other, and it is surprising how little they observe that is pleasant." Ed Howe advised, "Instead of loving your enemies, treat your friends a little better." Voltaire observed, "Common sense is not so common."

Women talk 25 per cent faster than men, but say 40 per cent less. The females use too many unnecessary adjectives in conversation . . . Usually cigar smokers make the best baseball players. However there is one notable exception to this rule. Ty Cobb has always been a cigaret smoker. He rolls his own.

Tranquilizers No Substitute For Relaxation

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Anxiety is an uncomfortable sensation that everyone except babies and simpletons experience. The condition is difficult to escape, and for centuries physicians have been recommending ways to combat it. The tranquilizing drugs were introduced as a solution and a multimillion dollar business was created overnight. So great was the demand for these pills, druggists could not keep adequate supplies on hand.

An "I don't care" attitude followed freedom from anxiety and fear. Drive was reduced and the tablets were consumed like candy by executives under tension. Neurotics forgot their troubles and hypochondriacs went searching for new complaints. But wifey noticed that hubby had lost his energy and concern for business.

Then one of the most unusual paradoxes in medicine occurred. Physicians began to change their attitude toward anxiety and fear. Before the advent of the tranquilizers, these emotions were discouraged. Then they became good, provided they were not marked. Now it is becoming evident that fear of danger keeps us alive and on guard against harmful influences.

The anxiety associated with competition is the driving force that makes us do our best every day. No one likes the thought of having the wolf at the door and this fear forces us to strive for a better life. A certain amount of tension is an unavoidable part of living.

But let's not condemn the tranquilizers for decreasing anxiety. They are of value for people who work under pressure and need temporary relief. This includes the business executive who is up to his neck in responsibilities and needs a breather. But the drugs should not serve as a crutch for men and women who are unable to take the ordinary stresses of living. These individuals need pills to make them fight rather than flee.

Regardless of all the progress that has been made in medicine, there is no substitute for relaxation. This is nature's built-in tranquilizer that all of us can utilize, provided we are willing to put it to work. Relaxation is not toxic to the system, never is followed by side reactions or addiction, and once acquired has a lasting effect that cannot be matched by any drug.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

D. R. writes: What is colitis? Does it cause constipation or is it the other way around?

REPLY

Colitis is irritation or inflammation of the colon and may be associated with constipation, diarrhea, or normal bowel habits. In some instances colitis is caused by roughage in the diet; in others ,allergy to certain foods is responsible. Still another type is traceable to an amebic infection. All these are mentioned to demonstrate the varied origins of the disorder. Send stamped addressed envelope for leaflet on this topic.

ABDOMINAL EPILEPSY

P. L. writes: The doctor says my 5 year old niece has abdominal epilepsy. Can you tell us something about this condition?

REPLY

This unusual form of epilepsy affects the nerves that control the abdominal organs. There are bouts of abdominal pain and vomiting along with periods of anxiety, pallor, and flushing. Symptoms recur periodically and are relieved by the usual anti-epileptic remedies.

CAPILLARY DAMAGE

M. O. writes: Could the steady use of a vibrating machine affect the circulation?

REPLY

Yes. Pneumatic hammers, for example, may damage the capillaries of the hands to such an extent that the fingers turn white and cold whenever the operator is exposed to lower temperatures and cold water.

NOT THE SAME

V. C. writes: Is an enlarged inguinal ring the same as a rupture?

REPLY

No. Many persons with an enlarged external, inguinal ring do not have hernia.

BUNION CORRECTION

E. M. writes: Is it true that you can't walk for a year after a bunion operation?

REPLY

No. Walking is possible shortly after surgery of this type. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bunions.

TOMORROW: Salmonella organisms.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One of the astonishing collaborations in Hollywood history came about when producer Howard Hawks nominated Mississippi's Nobel Prize novelist, William Faulkner, and Philadelphia mystery writer Harry Kurnitz to work on an Egyptian spectacular, The Last of the Pharaohs.

"This will be the first time in history," predicted Kurnitz, "that Pharaoh speaks with a Southern Jewish accent!" He added that this was the way the whole project started:

"I was sitting on the terrace of Fouquet's restaurant in Paris idly building a pyramid of sugar cubes. Hawks saw me and said, 'I've got it! Let's do a picture about the Pharaohs!' Next thing I knew, Bill Faulkner and I were gazing apprehensively at a typewriter in a hotel room in Cairo!"

Grandma Moses always was insistent that her daughter study painting. "After all," she explained, "there's got to be someone to whom I can leave the business!"

'Robert's' Ruled Legislature With Heavier Hand Than Usual

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, April 4 (AP)—"Robert's" ruled the Maryland House of Delegates during its recently concluded 90-day session.

Legislative leaders had to call upon "Robert's" more than ever in their memory as delegate after delegate found new ways of using the rules.

The basic book for parliamentary procedure is by Henry M. Robert. It is the final word when argument develops over interpretation of rules.

There were plenty of occasions for reference to it during the past House session and it resulted in a rule-book lesson for everybody.

"I move you, sir", was heard countless times by Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) as quickly learning delegates involved rules unfamiliar even to him, a member since 1938.

He turned for speedy help in riffling the rule book to his chief clerk, George Owings of Calvert County. Opinions had to be sought from C. Ferdinand Sybert, the attorney general, and Carl Everstine, head of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

The most overworked rule at the session was of little significance before some Eastern Shore delegates got hold of it.

The rule is that five members can force action to be delayed for a day on a bill if an amendment is offered. The idea was to permit members to have time to study amendments they didn't quite understand or to investigate.

Eastern Shore delegates offered meaningless amendments to a rock fish bill they were fighting and invoked the layover rule. Although they started out in the minority, after a month they succeeded in killing the bill.

Cries of protest went up that the rule was being misused. An effort to change it failed.

A bloc of delegates opposed to city purchase of the Baltimore Transit Co. later took their cue from the Shore and used the rule the same way for several days.

During this stalemate, a rare "appeal from the decision of the chair" was made. This was a new effort to nullify the layover rule.

The House may suspend the rules at any time if 82 delegates want. But the appeal from the chair's ruling requires only a majority of those voting. It failed.

Before the vote was taken, the House got into an involved discussion over whether debate was permitted. It is "if the decision appealed from was made on a motion or question which is itself debatable."

The motion to layover, which was the subject, isn't debatable.

Another way to kill bills tried out during the session was for many to abstain from voting. They couldn't be accused of being against the proposal, but their failure to vote at all could cause it to fail. Bills require at least 62 votes to pass.

This tactic prompted the call for invocation of rules "10A" and "19."

"10A" proved to be authority "to compel the attendance of absent members."

"19" requires every member present to "vote on every question put to the House unless he shall excuse himself."

A new twist also was given to the rules permitting reconsideration of a vote.

Opponents of the rock fish bill spotted a lot of empty seats one day and sent it to committee for the second time. They knew proponents could recall it the next day when they had a full attendance by moving to reconsider.

So the proponents promptly moved to reconsider their own action. Then they defeated their motion.

The motion to reconsider may be made only once on the same question.

Traffic Court 'Business' Good

Business was flourishing in Trial Magistrates Court during the month of March at the expense of motorists who ran afoul of the law in various motor vehicle violations.

A total of $3,784.20 in fines and costs was imposed by both magistrates in a series of 237 motor vehicle violations.

An increase in drunken driving charges was noted during March, and Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said the situation is "getting out of hand."

Magistrate Dick imposed a total of $2,368.35 in fines and costs in some 131 cases he heard, while Magistrate Donald W. Mason had 106 motor vehicle cases and imposed a total of $1,415.85 in fines and costs.

The large number of motor cases heard was unusual for the month of March, it was pointed out.

A series of pictures posted on the walls of the Trial Magistrates Court rooms, being used in Maryland State Police safety work, give violators a vivid view of sudden death which can result from excessive speed or while driving "under the influence."

Mill To Buy B&O Land

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company has agreed to sell to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company the 9.68 acres of land south of the Potomac River and west of the Piedmont High School property, John A. Luke, manager of the Luke Mill said yesterday.

While settlement has not been completed, the railroad has authorized West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company to take immediate possession of the area.

The company has agreed to sell 2.64 acres of the land adjoining the school to the Mineral County Board of Education within 30 days after the transfer from the B&O is completed.

This area will provide the board with room for the future development of atheltic and recreation facilities.

The area retained by the mill is likely to be used for various purposes during the different phases of the mill's expansion program.

Currently, Tidewater-Hazelwood, the firm that will build the expanded plant is constructing a concrete batch plant there.

I have seven in my family, and considering gasoline and trouble running to the market, I would say I save on the average of $20.00 per week. I have had my freezer four months. Within that time I have ordered twice. One order was for $16.00 and my order last week, which will do me for a month and a half, was $28.00. I certainly am satisfied with the plan, I don't know how I did without it.

Gettysburg College Marks 125th Anniversary Today

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — Gettysburg College, observing its 125th anniversary year, will hold its Founders' Day celebration on the campus, today and tomorrow. The weekend's program will serve as a "kickoff" for a year-long list of 125th anniversary events.

Today's program will include a speech on the history of the College by Dr. William K. Sundermeyer, head of the German department. Dr. Sundermeyer will speak during the College's 8:50 a. m. chapel service. Friday night's program calls for an interfraternity Council-Pan-Hellenic sing in the Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium, at which the College's fraternities and sororities will compete for singing trophies.

Saturday's program, except for a varsity baseball game between Gettysburg and Harvard and a track meet with Western Maryland, will be in charge of the student body. Plans call for an exaggerated caricature, including an all-college picnic, a faculty softball game with faculty members garbed in baseball uniforms from the 1832 period, beard contests, and greased pig contests. The night's activities include a torchlight political rally and a square dance in the campus gymnasium.

New Telephone Service Nears In Hardy Co.

Lines To Open About June 1

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—June 1 will be the date Hardy County will have county wide telephone service, according to an announcement by Vance Mathias, president of the cooperative Hardy Telephone Company.

Mathias and Robert L. Baker, treasurer, accompanied by H. G. Kroger, Parkersburg, field representative of the Rural Electrification Administration Loan Program, Don Cooper and Les Gaver, with the Information Service of the REA, Washington, were inspecting the system last week.

Wet and cold weather has delayed stringing of lines for the new phone company but most of that part of the construction has been completed. Dial phones will be installed in homes and business places within the next three weeks. The Stromberg Carlson dial exchange equipment has been installed in the exchange building at Lost River and S. G. Wilson, local manager, is currently attending a maintenance school at Stromberg Carlson plant., Rochester, N.Y.

Mathias urged all patrons of the new telephone company to see the exhibit at the office of the cooperative in the Hotel McNeill building, O. R. Bean's office.

Kroger announced that REA loans had been granted for telephone service at New Haven in Mason County, at Rupert in Greenbriar County and at Laurel Point in Monongalia County.

Approximately 400 subscribers have signed up for telephone service in the cooperative but several members have not made their equity payment. Mathias urged all those members who have not paid to do so at once so that all installations can be made at one time.

W.Va. Korea Vet Bonus Hits Snag

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 4 (AP)—Officials who will supervise payment of West Virginia's bonus to Korean veterans will try to smooth out one administrative problem at a conference in Washington Monday.

The problem is that certificates of service now issued by the armed forces show overall dates of service but do not break them down into dates for domestic service and foreign service.

Since payment of the bonus will be the basis of $10 a month for service in the United States and $15 a month for foreign service, it is necessary to verify dates for each. The maximum bonus will be $30 for those who served only in this country, and $400 for those who went overseas.

The same problem, with respect to Navy discharges only, arose during West Virginia's bonus program for World War I and II veterans. World War II navy discharges did not show foreign service dates and the State had to employ personnel at record centers in Washington and Garden City, Long Island, to verify the dates on bonus applications from Navy veterans.

C. S. Collier Jr., director of veterans affairs; Gene Crutchfield, Collier's assistant, and Frank Caudy, chief of the State Bonus Division, will meet in Washington Monday afternoon with representatives of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

The State officials will attempt to work out an arrangement whereby the services will verify dates on certificates of service without involving the necessity for employment by the State of personnel at various record centers throughout the country.

Sweet Corn Origin Is Unsolved Riddle

Every can of corn you open holds good food in store — and a bit of American history. Colonists of every region knew that the green fields with their rows of tall cornstalks and tasselled ears meant freedom from want. Indians knew the same. They knew it so well that the first written records of corn can be traced back to the 8th century, in Guatemala.

But if all America has long understood the vital importance of corn as a staple, the corn still poses an unsolved riddle: where did it come from? Corn is strictly a cultivated plant which cannot survive without man's attention. It grows fast and looks hardy, but is actually so delicate at some stages of its life that it would succumb to animal and vegetable pests if left to its own devices. It's hard to imagine the American landscape without corn, but that's just the way it would be if we ceased corn cultivation for a number of years.

We know that corn is a grass and that it must have been developed from a grass that grew wild. But no one has found the original wild grass from which our corn descends. The Indians, of course, had their own explanations for the matter. Some tribes believed that corn first sprang up in the footsteps of a spirit woman. Others told a tale of a giant flying turkey hen who winged her way over the land dropping an ear of corn behind her. And still others regarded corn as a gift of a special god.

We Open Millions of Cans

Perhaps we will never discover just how the cultivation of corn began. But we will certainly go on opening millions of cans of corn every year and enjoying their contents. Corn is one of the most popular of canned vegetables, the National Canners Association has found; the care with which it is grown and the speed with which it is packed give it the same flavor and nourishing qualities as corn freshly picked from the field.

Moreover, canned corn is a natural mixer. The golden varieties in particular look lovely on a plate with other vegetables, green or red, and the unobtrusive yet amiable personality of corn makes it a pleasant companion for nearly anything—meat, fish or poultry. We are fortunate to have such an excellent vegetable at our beck and call. From pantry shelf to plate is only a question of five minutes whenever you decide to serve canned corn.

Unsulphured Molasses Gives Sweet Touch To Pork Taste

There is nothing involved about Pork Cantonese. Cubed, pork shoulder meat is braised (simmered in a little liquid) until tender and well done. Then unsulphured molasses, soy sauce and vinegar are added for the sweet-sour contrast of flavors. And pineapple chunks, green pepper and onion contribute their medley of flavors and textures.

The career woman who wishes to serve Pork Cantonese of a working day, may prepare the dish the night ahead and refrigerate it. The sweet-sour pork only needs to be heated 15 minutes before serving.

Unsulphured molasses is the sweetener used to give the taste contrast with soy sauce and vinegar. It will also add a good golden brown color associated with this oriental style of meat preparation.

Pork's in good supply and on the list of family favorite meats. Here it takes on a party menu air served Cantonese style with pineapple and mushrooms simmered in a sweet-sour sauce. The dish can be prepared in a skillet on top of the range or in one of the electric skillets.

Pork Cantonese

2 pounds boned pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 can (3 or 4 ounces) mushrooms
1 can (14 ounces) pineapple chunks
⅓ cup unsulphured molasses
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ cup vinegar
2 green peppers, cut in strips
2 medium onions, sliced
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
6 cups hot cooked rice

Brown meat in a large skillet. Drain mushrooms and pineapple chunks; combine and measure liquids. Add enough water to measured liquid to make 2 cups. Add to skillet; bring to a boil. Cover; reduce heat and simmer 1 hour. Stir in molasses, soy sauce and vinegar. Add mushrooms, pineapple chunks, green pepper and onion. Cook 15 minutes longer. Blend cornstarch with small amount of water; stir into hot mixture. Cook, stirring with hot cooked rice. Yield: 6 servings.

For a spicily fragrant beverage on a knife-sharp day, serve hot apple juice, with a dash of ground cloves and cinnamon stirred in during the heating.

Serve Apple-Currant Rolls For Breakfast

For Sunday breakfast or brunch, treat the family to today's delicious-tasting, fresh apple-and-currant rolls. A minimum of preparation time is required and the rolls will bake in 20 minutes, while you're getting the rest of the breakfast ready. The currants go right into the dough mixture in this recipe while the chopped apples serve as a filling when the dough is rolled, as for a jelly roll. Then the roll is cut into thick slices and baked in a brown sugar sirup which adds an inviting caramel-like flavor accent. Washington Winesaps are suggested for these rolls because these all-purpose apples hold their texture and fresh fruit flavor while baking and lend a desirabel moisture. You'll find these late-harvested Winesaps in good supply now and excellent for fresh fruit eating as well as in baked and cooked dishes.

Fresh Apple & Currant Rolls

1 cup flour
¼ tsp. salt
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tbsp. sugar
3 tbsps. shortening
½ cup currants
1 egg
¼ cup milk
1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
¾ cup brown sugar
1 cup water
2 Winesap apples, peeled and cored

Sift flour, measure and sift again with salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Stir in currants. Combine beaten egg with milk and stir lightly into flour mixture. Roll out to ½ inch thickness and brush with melted butter or margarine. Combine brown sugar with water and bring to a boil. Pour into greased 8-inch square pan. Force apples thru a food chopper. Spread chopped apples over dough and roll as for a jelly roll. Cut into slices ½ inch thick. Place cut side own in hot sirup. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) for 20 minutes. Serve warm. Serves 6.

Sherried Walnuts Espagnol

Something delicious to nibble on when drinking coffee after dinner are shelled walnuts that have been soaked for at least an hour in Spanish sherry, either a nutty fino or a sweet oloroso. These nuts are also wonderful on ice cream, or when blended into whipped cream toppings.

Broiled Cinnamon Toast

Invite the neighbors in for impromptu mid-morning coffee and quickly put a pan of Broiled Cinnamon Toast in the oven for a surprise. Cut slices of enriched bread into 1-inch strips. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture—¼ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Place on baking sheet and broil until browned on top, about 2 minutes. Turn and brown on other side.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Feverish activity on the part of Congress in cutting the budget does not necessarily mean permanent economies are being instituted, but it does serve to point up the inadequacy of present congressional machinery for dealing with Federal spending. I am hopeful that the current economy wave will result in improved methods of handling money bills.

My own congressional group—the 83d Club — is now working on a resolution which would establish a joint congressional committee on the budget. The committee would be provided with an adequate full-time staff and would be in year around session. One major difficulty now is that Congress tries in a few short weeks to review budget figures which the Bureau of the Budget has worked over for a year or more. Under the 83d Club proposal, the Congress would have as much time as the Budget Bureau to study budgetary problems.

Defeat of the Patman Resolution authorizing a study of the nation's monetary and credit systems by a House Banking and Currency Subcommittee served to focus attention on the importance of a non-political and unbiased review of our monetary and banking structure. Real fear existed in Congress that the study, if carried out by the Patman Subcommittee, might degenerate into a political witch hunt for villains and victims. The House in its action stated emphatically it did not want the study group to be just a sounding board for pet monetary ideas.

The House District Committee has reported favorably on my bill—"simultaneous Death Act", which would make the District of Columbia's law the same as Maryland's on distribution of estates when deaths occur at the same time or at close intervals. A House District Subcommittee also approved a bill of mine to correct District law on the inheritance of real property. My bill would make real property follow the same line of descent as personal property and would repeal old laws dating back to the 13th Century.

Almond-Rasin Rolls

Here is one of the most pleasant ways to enjoy breakfast—piping hot almond-raisin rolls. To make: Blend ⅛ cup soft butter, ⅛ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup raisins and ¼ cup slivered almonds. In ungreased muffin tins, place 2 teaspoons of almond-raisin mixture in each cup. Cut Brown 'n Serve dinner rolls in half, horizontally. Place top half, topside down, on mixture. Cover with a teaspoon of the mixture and top with remaining half of roll. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for 10 minutes. Allow to stand in pan 5 minutes after removing from oven. Invert pan, serve rolls right side up with their buttery raisin-almond topping.

Bacon Bread

Certain to bring them on the run to the breakfast table—Bacon bread—hot out of the oven. Purchase a package of two Brown 'n Serve loaces of French bread. Cut them, diagonally, into 1-inch slices, not cutting quite through the bottom crust. Combine ⅛ cup crisply cooked bacon with ¼ cup solf butter. Spread between slices. Place loaf on a baking sheet and heat in hot oven (400° F.) for 10 minutes.

Setting a party table? Don't forget to serve soup, perhaps as a centerpiece. You'll be pleased with the compliments. Black bean and asparagus when marbled are colorful contrasts.

Planked Porterhouse Steak Easily Prepared

For elegant treatment of an elegant meat, plank a Porterhouse steak. The deliciously tender and flavorful meat is a handsome sight served sizzling hot on a planking board. The broiled steak-on-a-board may be accompanied by colorful vegetables which have been precooked and arranged on the plank with the meat, then popped under the broiler for a quick, final, browning.

Any beef steak may be planked—T-bone, club, sirloin and even ground beef shaped as a steak. Lamb chops and steaks are frequently planked, and thick ham slices may be boiled and served on a planking board, too.

The ideal planking board is made of well-seasoned hardwood, and is oval in shape. It is grooved so that juices are retained on the board rather than lost in the oven. Before it is used, the plank should be heated in the oven, then rubbed with unsalted fat. After using, the plank should not be washed—simply wiped with absorbent paper to remove surplus grease, then rubbed with more paper or clean towel until clean.

To plank a steak, follow these directions:

1. Select a T-bone, Porterhouse or club steak cut 1-½ inches or more in thickness. Slash edges of fat at two-inch intervals to prevent curling during broiling.
2. Place steak on rack of broiler and broil 3 to 5 inches from heat source. Allow 12 to 13 minutes per side for a medium-cooked steak 1-½ inches thick. Season cooked side with salt and pepper. Turn meat with tongs and broil second side about 10 minutes.
3. Place broiled steak in the center of preheated plank. Arrange precooked vegetables around steak, if you wish. Any two or three of the following might be used: hot mashed potatoes, buttered peas, green beans, Brussels sprouts, julienne carrots, crumbed tomato halves, French-fried onion rings, mushroom caps or sliced whole mushrooms.
4. Brush vegetables with melted butter or margarine and return to broiler for 2 minutes or until second side of steak is cooked to preferred doneness and vegetables are hot. Season steak with salt and pepper and serve immediately.

Molasses Custard

3 eggs
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups milk, scalded

Beat eggs slightly; add unsulphured molasses, salt, and vanilla. Stir in scalded milk. Pour into 6 custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) 50 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clear. Yield: 6 servings.

Salmon Steaks Italienne

½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup chopped herb pickles
1½ pounds salmon steaks
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons herb pickle liquid
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Mix the mayonnaise and chopped pickles together in top of a double boiler. Put over hot water and heat for 10 minutes, stirring several times. Meanwhile, put a piece of aluminum foil on top of the broiler rack and place fish on foil. Melt butter. Stir in the pickle liquid, salt, and pepper. Brush tops of salmon steaks with the melted butter mixture. Broil 2 inches from heat for 10 minutes on one side. Turn steaks and brush with butter-pickle liquid and broil for 5 minutes on second side or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Makes 4 servings. Serve with green peas and paprika buttered new potatoes.

Springtime Bacon Treat

Spark a Spring supper menu with crisp fried bacon and glazed fresh pineapple as the main course. This savory combination is attractive as well as good eating for a quick Spring supper. Pan-fry the meat and glaze the pineapple in the drippings.

Bacon and Pineapple Fingers

1 pound bacon
1 small fresh pineapple, pared
4 teaspoons sugar

Place separated bacon slices on a rack in a baking pan and bake in a 400° F. oven 10 minutes or until browned. Drain slices on absorbent paper and keep warm. Pour ¼ cup of bacon drippings into a small skillet. Cut fresh pineapple into fingers or sticks 3 inches long and ½ inch square. Brown pineapple in drippings and sprinkle sugar over pineapple. Spoon drippings over pineapple until glazed and serve on a warm platter with the bacon. 4 servings.

Breakfast Short Cut

When preparing large holiday breakfasts, try this handy time saver. When cooking bacon for a large group, place the bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and bake it in the oven.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

The evolution through which a man's ambition passes was outlined for me recently as follows:

To be a circus clown.
To be like dad.
To be a fireman.
To make All-State.
To do something noble.
To get rich.
To make ends meet.
To get an adequate pension.

Having enjoyed the item myself, I decided to pass it along as a rather light introduction to a much more serious report on several bills which actually relate to making ends meet, adequate pensions, etc.

All of the measures I will mention were introduced during the past month under my sponsorship or co-sponsorship.

Orphans And Veterans

MORTGAGE ASSISTANCE. The Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, of which I am a member has given a favorable report on our measure to authorize increased Federal assistance for certain home mortgages which are made under the National Housing Act. It will now be placed before the entire Senate.

CONGRESSIONAL MEDALS FOR CIVILIANS. The Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare has received our proposal to establish nine awards, each to be known as a "Congressional Medal for Arts and Sciences", for distribution each year to citizens who have made outstanding contributions in the fields of chemistry, government, literature, medicine and physiology, music, peace, physics, the pictorial arts, and sculpture.

NOTES FROM MY APPOINTMENT BOOK—During the week, I had the honor of introducing Miss Ilona Gale Ely, Maryland's Princess in the Cherry Blossom Festival, to the senate. I also was privileged to serve as an honorary chairman of the testimonial banquet at which Ogden Reid, president and editor of the New York Herald Tribune, was presented the Eternal Light Award of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. In addition, I addressed the opening meeting of the newly formed Southern Maryland Improvement Council, and was a guest at a dinner of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers.

Recipes Used In Western Maryland Cook-Off Contest Here

Following are recipes used in the Western Maryland cook-off here last week in the first stage of the "Mrs. America" contest sponsored by C&A Gas Company.

Mrs. Edward Eckhart, 133 Centre Street, Frostburg, and Mrs. Nelson Keyes, 35 Railroad Street, Lonaconing, were the winners. Their recipes are included, along with recipes of the other two contestants, Mrs. Ward Jamison, Bowling Green, and Mrs. William Pleasant, Westernport.

Mrs. William Pleasant

Oven Fried Chicken

2 breasts—2 legs chicken
½ cup all-purpose flour
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. paprika
½ cup Kraft all purpose oil

Combine flour, salt, pepper, and paprika in a 2 lb. paper bag. Add chicken and shake bag until each piece is well coated. Meanwhile heat Kraft Oil in baking dish in hot oven 400 F. about 10 minutes. Put chicken in hot oil, skin side down. Bake uncovered 20-30 minutes. Turn chicken bake 20-30 minutes longer or until well browned. Time depends on size of chicken.

Oven Browned Potatoes

2 lb. boiling potatoes
2 tbsp. butter
½ to 1 cup milk (cream)
salt to taste
Butter well 9" glass pie plate
Parmesan cheese, optional

Wash and pare potatoes thinly and barely cover with boiling water. Cover and cook at moderate rate until tender when pierced with a fork from 20 to 30 min. the time depending on the size and variety. Drain thoroughly. (liquid may be used with cream) Mash potatoes, add hot milk and beat, add butter and salt. Beat until light and fluffy. Plop the hot fluffy mashed potatoes by spoonfuls into prepared pan, leaving top fluffy. Brush top gently but generously with cream. Leave plain or for extra glamour and flavor, sprinkle with freshly grated Parmesan cheese. Place in oven and bake until top and bottom are delicately browned. Serve at once.

Peas

1 box Birdseye frozen peas
½ cup boiling water
½ tsp. salt

Pt water and salt in covered saucepan, bring to boil. Add peas and quickly bring to boiling point. Use fork to separate peas to hasten thawing. Lower heat and cook 5-8 minutes. Season with butter or margarine. Serve at once.

Spliced Tomato Salad

1 brilliant colored tomato—small or med, size well chilled cucumber
mayonnaise

Remove a thin slice from the stem end and use this for the bottom of the salad. Have a sharp knife to cut the tomato from the top downward into ¼" slices but leaving well intact at the bottom. Slide thin slices of pared cucumber or hard cooked egg well down between the slices. Place carefully in crisp lettuce cup. Serve with Roquefort dressing or mayonnaise.

Baking Powder Biscuits

2 cup all purpose flour
2 tsp. Rumford D. A. Baking powder
½ tsp. salt
⅓ cup shortening
⅞ cup milk (1 cup less 2 tbsp.)

(⅓ cup Kraft all purpose oil and ⅔ cup milk may be substituted instead of ⅓ cup shortening and ⅞ cup milk.)

Measure all ingredients accurately. Start oven 10 minutes before making (400-500°). Sift flour, measure, resift 3 times with dry ingredients into a 3-quart mixing bowl.

Cut shortening into dry ingredients with a pastry blender until particles are size of rice. Make a "well" in the dry ingredients and pour milk in all at once. Stir quickly and vigorously with a dinner fork. Turn dough out immediately onto a lightly floured pastry board. Knead quickly 6 to 8 times, then pat out lightly with floured palm of hand to ½ to ¾ inch thickness. Cut out biscuits to get as many as possible from the first rolled dough, then place them on a greased, shallow baking pan. Lay trimmings on top of each other without kneading, and again pat out with hand to same thickness, then cut out. Press remaining trimmings into biscuit shape and place on baking pan. Tops may be brushed with cream or melted butter for a richer color.

Place biscuits in heated oven. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve at once. Makes 9 to 12 biscuits.

Minute Tapioca

1 egg white
1 egg yolk
3 tbsp. Minute Tapioca
2 tbsp. sugar
2 tbsp. sugar
2 cups milk

Beef Roast Feasts

Celebrate the arrival of Spring, a wedding anniversary, a family birthday, or any festive occasion by serving a standing rib roast of beef. Now's the time to enjoy this succulent meat, for supplies of high quality beef are at their yearly peak.

You couldn't choose an easier meat to prepare, for rib roast of beef needs little more attention than placing in a pan, and popping into an oven. While the meat cooks, you have plenty of time to prepare interesting accompaniments for the regal roast.

To roast standing ribs of beef, place the meat fat side up, in a shallow pan. You don't need a rack for this roast since the ribs form a natural rack. Sprinkle the meat with a salt and pepper. Roast at 325° F. until the doneness preferred. Use a meat thermometer—inserted into the thickest part of the meat before cooking so the bulb of the thermometer doesn't rest on a bone—to determine doneness of meat. A medium-cooked roast will register an internal temperature of 160° F. and require about 26 to 30 minutes of cooking per pound.

3 egg whites, unbeaten
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift dry ingredients together. Add oleo and milk and beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Add ¼ c. milk, egg whites and vanilla and beat 2 minutes. Oven Fried Chicken

You'll surpass your family's fondest expectations, when you serve a platter of tender young chicken, no matter whether it be broiled, fried, barbecued, roasted, baked, skillet-simmered or casseroled. A delicious, easy to prepare recipe for a very popular favorite, Oven-Fried-Chicken, is recommended by the Poultry and Egg National Board. This recipe is especially good for frying two or more chickens. It makes four to five servings.

2 broiler-fryers, 2½ pounds each, cut up
⅓ cup fat for browning
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
⅓ cup broth or milk

Coating

½ cup flour
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. paprika
½ tsp. ground pepper

Shake chicken, 2 or 3 pieces at a time, in a bag containing the flour, salt, paprika and pepper, to coat evenly. Brown pieces lightly in medium hot fat in a heavy skillet. If a large quantity of chicken is being prepared, the browning will go faster if a 1 to 2-inch layer of fat is used. Drain well. Place golden-brown chicken one layer deep in shallow baking pan. For each pound of chicken, spoon a mixture of 1 tablespoon of melted butter or margarine and 1 tablespoon of broth or milk over the chicken. Continue the cooking in a slow oven (325° F.) until thickest pieces are fork-tender, 45 to 60 minutes. Turn once or twice to crisp and cook evenly. During the cooking, more broth or milk may be drizzled over chicken if it appears dry.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — In a controversy which promises to transcend political partisanship the "line of battle" is now forming. Seemingly, in many instances, Republican will be pitted against Republican, Democrat against Democrat, and Democrat against Republican, in the close quarters of the forthcoming Congressional endeavor to reduce the national budget. Poised on opposing sides are the advocates of government economy and the champions of increased government spending. This "trial by battle" will indeed be spirited.

Probably for the first time in too many years, the forces of economy and the evils of free spending will be put to the test. In a climate created by a record breaking peacetime budget, public opinion, simmering through more than two decades of high taxation, has reached a fever pitch. Like most members of the Congress, I have received a heavy volume of mail protesting the mammoth proportions of the Federal budget, as well as the national debt, and demanding substantial and immediate savings in the operations of our government.

Opposing factions, within and without both parties, as they approach the line of battle, are faced with the realities — yes even the complexities — of a responsibility for world leadership which has been thrust upon us. Approximately 60 per cent of the recommended $72 billion budget is allocated for national defense. The importance of national security will not be questioned by any thinking citizen, but an expected expenditure of some $43 billion for this essential protection intensifies the absolute necessity of removing all wasteful and excessive spending.

Where and how to begin? Senator Byrd of Virginia, a recognized expert in fiscal matters, contends that $1.5 billion can be eliminated, with safety, from appropriations requested for national defense. He further concludes that foreign aid and international programs can be shaved by $2 billion and that $3 billion can be pared from domestic-civilian activities. Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, also affirms that the budget can be reduced by some $3.3 billion without jeopardy to our national security or economy.

This "trial by battle" will determine whether an orderly retrenchment or a successive spending spree is to be our policy for the future. With a Nation, for all practical purposes, mortgaged to the hilt, the answer should be obvious to all — an orderly retrenchment in spending. It is this fundamental principle of government which I shall continue to support with all vigor at my command.

Staff Employes Are Promoted At Luke Plant

Promotion of six staff employes as a result of the $50 million expansion program at the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was announced yesterday by Floyd L. Davis, chief engineer.

Donald M. Mellor, general mechanics superintendent in the engineering department, is promoted to general field superintendent for the construction program. Under the direction of the project manager, he will be responsible for all field construction activities.

Samuel W. Widmer, chief design engineer, is promoted to the staff of the project manager under whose guidance he will be responsible for process and equipment studies.

Bruce Dunn, chief electrician, is promoted to the staff of the project manager and under his direction will specialize in power and electrical studies.

John A. Vazdikis, assistant design engineer, is promoted to chief design engineer to fill the vacancy created by Widmer's promotion.

Chester M. "Pat" Jenkins, assistant chief electrician, is promoted to chief electrician to fill the vacancy created by Dunn's promotion.

Ralph W. Kalbaugh, cost accountant in the engineering department, is promoted to chief construction accountant. Under the direction of the commercial superintendent he will have direct responsibility for all accounting work relative to the expansion program.

Mellor, of 75 Ashfield Street, Piedmont, has been with the company since June 1929 when he started to work in the control laboratory in the paper mill. He was transferred to the Engineering Department as assistant design engineer in March 1931 and a year later was assigned to maintenance and construction. He became a construction engineer in May 1940, and was promoted to general mechanics superintendent in 1953.

Widmer, of 150 Pratt Street, Luke, started in the New York office of the company in 1918 as a mechanical draftsman. He was transferred to Luke in 1923 as chief design engineer and in this capacity was active in all major construction and modernization programs at the Luke Mill.

Dunn, 320 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, has been with the company since June 1927 when he started to work in the electrical department. In December 1936 he was transferred to the Charleston, S. C., mill but returned to Luke in October 1937. He was promoted to chief electrician in April 1942.

Vazdikis, 145 Church Street, Westernport, is a mechanical engineering graduate from the University of Riga, Latvia, and has been with the company since March 1954 when he was employed as a design engineer. Vazdikis is a native of Latvia but is now a citizen of the United States.

Jenkins, of 35 Church Street, Keyser, W. Va., has been with the company since February 1954 when he was employed as an electrical engineer. He subsequently became assistant chief electrician.

Kalbaugh, Potomac Hotel, Piedmont, W. Va., started to work at the Luke mill in 1935. After joining the company, Kalbaugh filled various maintenance and construction jobs until 1941 when he became cost clerk in the construction department. On March 1, 1955, he was promoted to property and cost accountant in the engineering department.

Excess Wheat Disposal Set

Farmers in Garrett and Allegany counties having excess wheat in 1957 will have until June 20 to dispose of the excess by mowing, discing or plowing, according to Leonard C. Burns, chairman of the State ASC Committee.

In Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery and Washington counties the disposal date is June 10. The deadline for the rest of the state with earlier growing season is May 31.

Garrett's Schools

old and dilapidated schools at Vindex, five miles away, have been closed and some 50 children from that area are now transported by school bus to Kitzmiller. The Vindex schools closed two years ago.

In June of this year, Mt. Zion school, which has an enrollment of 15 children in primary grades, will be closed and these youngsters will attend the new facility at Kitzmiller, Mr. Hawkins said. This school at Mt. Zion is the only school in the county still on a dirt road. A two-room school at Shallmar also was closed a few years ago and children of that community attend at Kitzmiller.

The improvement at the Kitzmiller school did not stop with the mere building and equiping of an addition. In fact, the new modern addition made the rest of the building look a little dingy. So a job of painting up and refurbishing was begun. Where needed new furnishing was purchased, floors were newly tiled throughout, woodwork and walls were repainted, and gay, assorted but harmonizing colors were utilized throughout. The school is bright and cheerful.

But Kitzmiller was only a starting place.

At Loch Lynn Heights, at Red House, and at numerous other two, three, or four-room schools much work was needed. The county had spent a huge sum of money to build the two sprawling, modern and adequate consolidated high schools.

The new superintendent says they are among the best in the state, but true to his belief that every child should have an equal oportunity and a comfortable and cheerful environment in which to live and learn, and learn to live, these neglected grade schools all over the county remained a great challenge.

At Loch Lynn Heights, for example, the building was ready to fall apart. All window sills were rotted away and if anyone attempted to raise a window, the entire sash was likely to fall out. Plaster had fallen from walls. Ceilings were cracked, dirty and broken. It was evident upon a first inspection that the building should either be condemned and abandoned or completely remodeled and improved.

New window sills and windows were installed in the four-room structure. Walls were plastered and where necessary were strengthened. Floors were tiled. The heating plant was repaired and new kitchen facilities were obtained to serve a cheery, tile-floored cafeteria.

All the furniture in the building was either replaced or repaired and painted. Here again, the appropriate use of bright and cheerful paints plays a great part in creating a warm, pleasant atmosphere.

Some work had been done on a playground, so by joint efforts of the Parent-Teacher Association, the County Commissioners and the school board, along with the faculty and the students themselves, the old school yard has become an all-weather playground complete with a wide assortment of swings, slides and other devices intended to make play periods safe and fun for the youngsters.

This school stands as a symbol of what can be accomplished, and it represents the earnest efforts of groups and individuals under wise leadership.

NEXT: Garrett County's other schools.

Tri-Towns Quint Tops Fort Ashby

Cop Finale, 76-60; Malone's, McIntyre's, Lovers Leap Victors

The Collegians, a Tri-Towns quint managed by Paul Cueva, won the senior unlimited title in the annual Central YMCA-Jaycees basketball tournament by defeating the Fort Ashby V.F.W., a Romney - Ridgeley aggregation, by the score of 76-60 last night at the YMCA gymnasium.

Last night's win was the third in a row for the Piedmont-Westernport quint. Other victims were The Windy City Five, 72-62 and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose, 95-68. Twelve teams participated in the senior division games.

The Collegians outscored Fort Ashby 27 to 14 from the field but the Vets stayed in the ball game with their accurate foul shooting, meshing 32 out of 37 free throws. The winners also performed well at the foul line, converting 22 of 31 tosses.

Dave Marple was high scorer for the champs with 20 points to his credit. Jim Cave collected 16, Don Moran 13, Mike Nofsinger 11 and Gene Becker 10. Roger Maphis sparked the V.F.W. with 16 markers while Clyde Green, Don Maphis and Fritz Showers had 13 tallies each.

Malone's Bags Title

Malone's Lee Tires, an aggregation of LaSalle and Fort Hill players, won the junior unlimited championship by defeating Delmer's Grocery, composed of Ridgeley and Allegany players, by the score of 60-55.

The Tiremen had beaten The Aces, 42-30, to reach the finals.

Charles "Chazz" Imes sparked the winners with nine field goals and 21 points. Terry Weltman was runner-up with 17 and Van Parsons collected 14. John Teter and Carl Brown collected all but eight of the Grocers' points. Teter slammed in nine shots from the field and 6 out of 9 at the charity stripe for 24 points. Brown racked up 23 points, including an 11-for-12 performance at the 15-foot line.

McIntyre's Wins, 55-34

Don McIntyre's quint swept through to the 135-pound title in three games by trimming Lovers Leap Esso in last night's finale by the score of 55-34.

McIntyre's floormen had whipped Zion Evangelical, 42-25, and Hammond's, 38-37, on the way to the championship contest.

Bill Chappel, Carl Emerick and Bill Fair scored 19, 15 and 13 points for the victors. Dale Middleton was the lead for Lovers Leap with 11.

Lovers Leap Victor

Lovers Leap Esso captured the title in the 115-Pound Class with a 52-26 triumph over J. & J. TV in the final game.

Eddie Brode was the "big gun" for Lovers Leap with 21 points in seven field goals and 7-8 at the foul line.

Potomac State And Kent State To Play Today

Fort Hill Tossers Will Host Alumni

Jimmy Michaels of Romney and Allen Gates of McCoole are slated to work on the firing line for Potomac State College when Coach John Fox's Catamounts open their baseball campaign in a double header with Kent State University of Kent, Ohio, today at 1 p. m., at Stayman Field, Keyser.

Kent State was to have played its first game in this area with Frostburg State Teachers College yesterday but wet grounds resulted in cancellation of the contest.

Coach John Fox last night announced that Bruce Phillips will do the catching for State today with "Skip" Delligatti and Don Peters held in reserve. The starting infield will be Vic Nagie, first base; Al Canonico, second base; Gerald Bodnarchuk, shortstop and Ed Heminski, third base. Herndon Wilkins, Bill Watson and Gene McCauley will start in the outfield.

Since 1950 Kent State has played Potomac State nine times and holds a 7-2 lead in the series. The Ohioans tackle West Virginia University Saturday in Morgantown.

Fort Hill is scheduled to open its season with the Alumni today at Fort Hill Field. Jesse Markley will work on the mound for the Sentinels with Gary Wolford receiving. Donnie Lewis, Tommy Shaw, Walter Hillegas and Thurl Roy make up the infield with Jimmy Hammond, Ed Weaver and Jimmy Stinson in the outfield.

Other games today are Romney at Capon Bridge, Wardensville at Moorefield, Keyser at Fort Ashby and Paw Paw at Berkeley Springs.

Lamberson Speaks — Boxing's Problem

By C. V. BURNS

THE Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League, formerly the Bi-State Conference, will open its 19th consecutive season one week from today.

Of the seven teams that started in this circuit in 1939 only four remain, namely, Allegany, Beall, Fort Hill and LaSalle. The four other schools that make up this year's eight-team loop are Flintstone, Valley, Mt. Savage and Bruce.

Paw Paw, Keyser and Hyndman were the league's other charter members. Hyndman is the latest to withdraw after 18 years of competition.

Only one coach remains of the seven who led teams in 1939 and he is John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill. Other mentors the first year of the league were "Ebbie" Finzel, Beall; Arnet Swisher, Paw Paw; Homer Fizer, Keyser; Hubert Radcliffe, Allegany; Phil Fleming, LaSalle, and Roscoe Wareham, Hyndman.

Beall has won five championships and shared another with Hyndman. Fort Hill has bagged four titles outright and shared first place on two other occasions. LaSalle has headed the field twice and tied for the championship three other times.

LEO J. LAMBERSON of South Bend, Indiana, was a visitor here this week.

Lamberson is the chairman of the Greek (AHEPA) Refugee Relief Committee, past supreme president AHEPA and a very interesting person.

Leo is a brother of the late Jimmy Lamberson, who boxed here as a flyweight, bantamweight and featherweight under the management of Christ Charuhas. Jimmy died of leukemia in 1945 at Indianapolis.

A native of Michigan City, Ind., Leo Lamberson, now a prominent attorney of South Bend, once attended Davis & Elkins College and helped coach wrestling at the Elkins institution.

While attending D. & E., Leo worked at the Coney Island Lunch Room on North Liberty street. Jimmy was boxing at the time and part of his ring earnings went toward his brother's education. After leaving this section Leo attended Cumberland University at Lebanon, Tenn., where he also coached wrestling.

Lamberson has made seven trips to Greece since 1948. Much of Greece's prosperity today is attributed to aid from the United States, according to Leo, who stresses that Greece is our strongest NATO partner in the Mediterranean area. He adds that there are nearly 1½ million Americans of Hellenic extraction who reside in the U. S. and Alaska.

Discussing famous Greek athletes, the name of Jim Londos, the wrestler of bygone days, was mentioned. Leo reports Londos, now 60, owns a large ranch in California and is a leading producer of citrus fruit.

THERE IS a $100.00 incentive to smack home runs at the Columbus (Ohio) Jets Stadium of the International League.

The Jets have constructed a target at the 396-foot mark about ten feet from the ground in right-center field. In the center is a hole one-half inch in diameter larger than an official league baseball.

The Buckeye Union Casualty Company will pay $100,000 to any player succeeding in hitting a pitched baseball through the hole while taking part in a regulation league game.

DON LARSEN'S no-windup pitching might seem to be something new to the Johnny Come Latelys but in 1932 when Grover Cleveland Alexander, then 45, hurled for the House of David team against the Cumberland Colts he didn't bother winding up and fast-pitched the Dobbins the several innings he toiled on the rubber.

The Colts beat "Old Pete" by the score of 7-3.

Alex had toiled in the National League from 1911 through 1927. He died in 1950.

JULIUS HELFAND, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, admits he is knocking his brains out while seeking a solution to boxing's biggest problem which he says is:

"How can we revive the small fight clubs in spite of television?"

"Until we find an answer to this question, the quality of professional fighters will continue to deteriorate, because there's no place for young boxers to develop," he says.

Promoters report that fans simply will not turn out for small club fights because they could witness three fight shows free each week on their TV sets.

Cumberland was listed among the good fight towns in bygone days but there hasn't been a show — pro or amateur — here since 1951.

Jackie Burke's 71 Leads Masters Golf By One Stroke

1956 Champ Only Player To Beat Par

Score Is Highest In 21 Years; Five Tie For 2nd Spot

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 4 (AP) — Perennially boyish Jackie Burke, who won his first big golf title on another windy day here last year, shot through Georgia's tricky gusts into the first day lead in defense of his Masters championship.

On a day when the rising and falling breeze made a lot of golf's great players miserable, the 34-year-old Texan tamed the weather and Augusta National's par with an opening round of 71 that gave him a one-stroke lead over five tough pursuers.

Highest In 21 Years

Par for the 6,980-yard Augusta National course is 36-36—72, and Burke was the only player to beat it today. It was the highest score the first-round leader has made in 21 years of playing the Masters, and Jackie made it with a 35-36—71 that included an eagle three on the 13th hole.

Breathing down the defending champion's neck after the first round were two men who have won the Masters three times each, Jimmy Demaret and Sam Snead; Doug Ford, the 1955 PGA champion, and two distinguished Australian players, Peter Thomson, winner of the British Open championship for the past three years, and 21-year-old Bruce Crampton, champion of his native country.

Campbell Posts 82

Amateur William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., shot a 42-40—82 and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., had a 40-40—80.

Burke was first day leader in the Masters two years ago under far different circumstances. When he shot a 67 in 1955 he still was the boy wonder who never had lived up to his promise. And he finished the tournament far behind.

Last year when Burke won he pursued Ken Venturi all the way and finally caught him on the last day. Then he went on to win the PGA Championship, his second major victory, last summer.

Burke, who tries to beat the course instead of his rivals and doesn't worry about the pressure of being champion, said his golf today was a little better than in last year's victory.

The erratic wind, blowing hard at times then dropping suddenly, didn't give Jackie as much trouble as it did some of his rivals. It was worst during the middle of the afternoon. Ford, an early starter and fast player, got in his licks before the peak. Burke and Snead finished when it had become comparatively calm.

Hogan Cards 76

One of the principal victims was two-time Masters champion Ben Hogan, who posed a 76 and said he "couldn't hit the ball very close to the hole." National Open champion Cary Middlecoff was even worse off with a 79.

For a long time it looked as if par wouldn't be beaten by the biggest field ever to play in the Masters—a record 102 starters—and the 72s would be enough to lead. Players like U.S. amateur champion Harvie Ward, former British Open champion Henry Cotton and Arnold Palmer and Ed Furgol fired at it and fell back. Ward staged about the most spectacular stumble after shooting the front nine in 34.

Harvie Ward, Cotton, Furgol, Palmer, Canada's Al Balding, Jerry Barber and pro Bud Ward, who isn't related to Harvie, all posted 73s. Venturi, who had the Masters agog last year when he still was an amateur, was in a big group which had 74s.

Snead Falters

Snead, always a commanding figure here, drew a big part of the gallery of about 8,000 as he came up to the last couple of holes with a chance to tie Burke. But Sam took a bogey five at the 400-yard 17th, and he couldn't guide a 15-foot downhill putt into the cup on the home green when making it would have given him a tie for the lead. His 72 was made with 36s on each nine.

SARASOTA, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Bubba Phillips' leadoff triple and Earl Battey's sacrifice fly in the 11th gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 triumph over the Boston Red Sox in an error-marred exhibition game today.

It was Phillips' third hit in a contest marked by seven miscues. The game's first five runs were unearned. Winning pitcher was veteran Ellis Kinder, who allowed three hits in the final three innings and checked Boston with the bases loaded and none out in a scoreless ninth.

Franklin "Pete" Rockwell, Former Romney Coach, Dies

Death Follows Lung Operation

ARLINGTON, Va., April 4 (AP)—Franklin A. Pete Rockwell, Washington-Lee High School athletic director, died today in a local hospital. He was 37.

Rockwell had undergone a lung operation yesterday.

He came to Washington-Lee in 1944, as head football, basketball, and baseball coach. He gave up football and basketball to concentrate on baseball.

Rockwell's teams won six Northern Virginia Group I titles in his nine years as baseball coach and in 1949, the state championship. He was named athletic director in 1953.

Pirates Defeat Athletics, 4-3

Bob Friend Gets Credit For Win

FT. MYERS, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Relaying exclusively on singles, the Pittsburgh Pirates today rammed across four runs in the first two innings and hung on for a 4-3 exhibition victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Bobby Friend, ace Pirate righthander, was credited with the triumph. He gave up nine hits and all of the Athletics' runs in his seven innings on the mound.

The Pirates hopped on Virgil Trucks, veteran righthander who was charged with the loss.

The Athletics scored a run in the third on singles by Hector Lopez, Trucks and Billy Hunter to end at 31 the number of innings of scoreless ball that Pirate pitchers had hurled against them.

A. Clinton Loy, of Romney, superintendent of Hampshire county schools, recalled last night that Franklin A. "Pete" Rockwell, who died yesterday in Arlington, Va., served as football, basketball and baseball coach at Romney High School in 1943-44. Mr. Loy stated that Rockwell was among the four coaches that Romney had during a four-year period. "Pete" followed Bob Kyle and Chester Collett and preceded Richard "Dick" McElwee.

Rockwell was a graduate of Hedgesville High School, Berkeley county, W. Va.

Washington and Lee High School of Arlington, Va., played Fort Hill in football in 1947, 1948, 1949 and 1950. Harry Deming and Ken Batson were the head coaches of the Generals in those years.

McDougald Is Star In 1 To 0 Victory

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Gil McDougald starred today when the New York Yankees blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 1-0. The shortstop made a great, lunging catch of a liner to save the game in the top of the ninth and then drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly after Woody Held opened the Bombers' final at bat with a triple.

The Yankees made just two hits. Robin Roberts held them to one, a bunt single by Hank Bauer, in eight innings. Rookie righthander Dick Farrell was on the hill in the ninth when the Yankees won with one out.

Whitey Ford, likely opening day pitcher for New York, twirled five-hit ball over seven innings and Bobby Shantz finished up.

The shutout was the Yankees' sixth of the spring and set their exhibition record at 13-12. The Phils have won 14 and lost 11.

Rangers Eliminated

MONTREAL, April 4 (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens, carried into a "sudden-death" overtime by a surprising third period New York rally, advanced to the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup finals tonight as old pro Maurice Richard scored in the extra session to give the Canadiens a 4-3 victory.

The Canadiens, defending Cup champions, meet the Boston Bruins, who defeated Detroit 4-1 in games in their semifinal tonight, for the payoff.

Gene Fullmer And Robinson Fight May 1

Chicago Lands Title Rematch

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP) — The middleweight title rematch between champion Gene Fullmer and aging Sugar Ray Robinson at the Chicago Stadium May 1 may end in an early knockout.

Both principals hinted this today as they formally signed for their first meeting since Jan. 2 when 25-year-old Fullmer won a 15-round decision which stripped 36-year-old Robinson of his 160-pound crown.

The signing, held at Tam O'Shanter Country Club where Fullmer will train, stipulated a 30 per cent share for each fighter of a possible $350,000 take from both the gate and TV fee.

On that basis, Fullmer may collect more than $80,000, or four times the $20,915 he got from a 12½ per cent gate share, devoid of any TV money, in his New York dethroning of Robinson.

President Jim Norris of the sponsoring International Boxing Club, said he believed the rematch would produce a net gate of $250,000, while added to this is a $100,000 TV melon.

Norris pointed out that the first Fullmer-Robinson meeting which attracted a surprising crowd of 18,134 and a gate of $184,000 was held at "an exceptionally poor time of the year."

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 4 (AP)—Actress Janis Paige sued today for divorce from television producer Arthur Stander, charging mental cruelty.

Calcium Deposits Troubling Arms Of Erskine, Spooner

NEW YORK, April 4—(INS)—Exhaustive hospital tests today showed that Brooklyn pitchers Carl Erskine and Karl Spooner are suffering from calcium deposits in their throwing arms.

Righthander Erskine, whose nine-year career with the Dodgers includes a pair of no-hitters and a world series strikeout-record of 14 Yankees in 1953, was found to have three bits of calcium in his right shoulder that were not visible before.

Spooner's case is almost identical. "I've got calcium deposits in my left shoulder socket," said the young lefthander who blazed onto the big league scene late in 1954 with shutout victories in the only two games he pitched that year.

Bruins Make Finals

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—The red hot Boston Bruins twice struck from behind, scoring three goals in the final period, and defeated the champion Detroit Red Wings 4-3 tonight to gain a spot in the Stanley Cup finals for only the second time in the last decade.

ODC Will Drill

Weather permitting, the Cumberland Outdoor Club of the Rocking Chair Softball League will hold practice today at 5:30 o'clock at Stitcher Field.

Florida Commission Revokes Tropical Park License

Owner, Track Guilty On Six Charges

Silberman To File Appeal; Wants 14 Million For Track

By GENE PLOWDEN

MIAMI, April 4 (AP)—The Florida State Racing Commission today cancelled Saul Silberman's license to operate Tropical Park race track at Miami.

The commission found the track and Silberman guilty on six of eight charges, including illegally disseminating racing information.

Unless the ruling is overturned in Florida courts, Silberman must sell the track he bought in November, 1953, from Nathan Herzfeld for 2½ million dollars.

To Appeal Decision

Silberman's attorney, former State Sen. R. B. Gautier, said the decision would be appealed to the state Supreme Court "immediately."

When asked for comment, Silberman said he had none, and added: "The track is now for sale for 14 million dollars."

In New York, Don Lillis, president of Bowie Race Track and a partner in a New York investment banking firm, said he was "very definitely interested" in buying Tropical Park and was trying to reach the owners by telephone.

"All I want is an opportunity to look at the books and make my bid," said Lillis. "The track obviously is worth considerably more now than the 2½ million dollars paid for it previously and I'm willing to make a substantial offer.

"I'm sure if the track is going to be sold the owners will give all bidders a chance," added Lillis. "I'd love an opportunity to qualify for the finals."

Under the law, race tracks must apply for 1957-58 racing dates by May 1 and the commission allocates dates on May 15. If Tropical Park is not sold by that time, Hialeah and Gulfstream Parks could get the 40 days normally assigned to Tropical. Or the track's dates could be held in abeyance pending court decision.

Racing in the Miami area is limited to 120 days, plus six extra days for the so-called "scholarship fund" which goes to state institutions and the University of Miami.

The charges against Tropical Park Inc. and Silberman, its president, were aired at a hearing in February.

On the first charge, that Maurice J. Hirshstein, a track employe, "knowingly associated regularly during the period with persons commonly known as bookmakers or criminals," the commission said the charge was "moot" and of no consequence.

Charges on which Tropical Park, Inc. and its president were convicted were:

Made Bets On Credit

That Silberman made large bets with the pari-mutuel department "on credit."

That Silberman permitted the telephone of the corporation to be used to communicate racing information in violation of the law.

That Silberman permitted the telephone to be used by unauthorized persons during the race programs.

And that Silberman and Hirshstein transmitted racing information by telephone from the president's private office and through the track's switchboard to Philip Gerson, "a convicted bookmaker and gambler," when said information was intended for use in illegal gambling.

Testimony showed that Hirshstein, on the payroll as a public relations man, made more than 100 calls to the same Cleveland telephone numbers "and always at the track's expense."

Brooklyn Bags 14-8 Slugfest

Snider Belts Pair Against Milwaukee

SAN ANTONIO, Texas., April 4 (AP)—Duke Snider,who owns clear title to one of the Dodger outfielding posts, and Gino Cimoli, who is staking a strong claim to another, led Brooklyn to a 14-8 victory over the Milwaukee Braves before 8,670 fans at Missions Stadium today.

Snider hit two towering home runs over the 40-foot-high scoreboard 350 feet out in right field, while Cimoli paced the Dodgers' 14-hit attack off Gene Conley, Joie Jay and Dave Jolley with three hits. Gino had a home run and two ground rule doubles into the overflow crowd which lined the outfield fences.

John Podres and Rene Valdes were the Brooklyn pitchers, and the Braves belted them for 16 safe hits topped by home runs by Danny O'Connell and Hank Aaron. Podres surrendered three runs in five innings, and Valdes was touched for the other five Milwaukee counters in the final two of his four-inning stint.

Carl Furillo and Charley Neal also homered for the Dodgers.

If Yank's Don't Win

It Will Be Biggest Upset Since Maxie Tagged Louis

Stengel Is Cagey, This Is His Best Club—In Numbers

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 4 (AP) — If the New York Yankees don't win the American League pennant again, it will be the biggest upset since Max Schmeling knocked out Joe Louis.

Casey Stengel, who has won seven flags in eight years as Yankee boss, has to play it a little cagey. He can't afford to join the chorus that is predicting the race is over before it has begun. If he did, complacency might set in.

Whatever he says and no matter how he says it, you can be sure old Case expects to win again. He just doesn't want his men to get the idea that it's going to be a cakewalk.

"Is this the best Yankee club you ever had?" a fellow asked Stengel.

Best In Numbers

"I wouldn't want to say that," he started. "And I wouldn't want to say it wasn't. It's the best in numbers if you get what I mean. I could open the season with the same men but I don't have to. I might put that fella (rookie Tony Kubek) in left field or shortstop and he wouldn't hurt me. Then again he might not make the team.

"My pitching is going to be pretty good. Kucks (Johnny) and Sturdivant (Tom) are doing great and Ford (Whitey) is working on a new pitch.

"Ditmar (Art) and Shantz (Bobby) never worked for me and I want to see more of them. Larsen (Don) has been giving up some runs but he can run those guys that don't smoke around the outfield until their tongues are hanging out.

Chased To Kansas City

"We've got so many that if anybody don't come along, somebody else can move up. Just like those fellows that went to Kansas City. Somebody improved so much they chased them right out."

Stengel gives an automatic rundown of the race to all visitors.

"Detroit was the only team which beat us on the season so you have to say they were pretty good, especially in the second half. But can they do it for 5½ months?

"Cleveland has the pitching and Chicago I know is going to be managed well. I don't know about Boston. That fella Nixon (Willard) can beat us and he can't get anybody else out. Baltimore might have a first division pitching staff but what else?"

St. Louis Cards Edge Tigers, 5-4

LAKELAND, Fla., April 4 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of Pete Wojey's seventh inning wildness to score two runs and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 5-4 today in an exhibition baseball game.

In the hectic seventh Wojey, Detroit's second pitcher, twice threw the ball away on attempted pickoff plays and forced in one run by walking Bobby Del Greco with the bases loaded.

A Detroit rally against Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth fell a run short when the Tigers could score only once after loading the bases on two walks and a single with one out.

Spieser Favored To Beat Anthony

DETROIT, April 4 (AP)—On the eve of his most important fight, Tony Anthony says he has decided not to slug it out with free-swinging Chuck Spieser in their scheduled 12-round nationally televised bout tomorrow night.

The 22-year-old New Yorker figures his chances for a shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight crown are much greater "if I fight my own kind of fight."

That, says Anthony, means that he'll be on the move most of the evening, or for as long as the battle lasts.

Spieser, a Detroiter, is a heavy favorite in the 12-rounder (10 p.m., EST, NBC-TV) that will decide Moore's opponent in a June 7 title match in Detroit.

Enos Slaughter Is Stopped By Groin Injury

It Can't Be His Age, Veteran Declares

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — Note that Enos Slaughter, the kid who seems destined to stick with the Yankees this year, has been sidelined with a groin injury.

Declaring that "it can't be my age," the perennial youth — he'll be 42 April 27 — says he'll catch up with the injury before the seasons opens, meaning he'll just get out there and work and work and eventually wear away the ailment. Discourage it, anyway, so it will go away.

We never cease to marvel at Grandpappy Slaughter, who is so tough even hostile dogs leave him alone. Injuries which would incapacitate athletes 20 years his junior leave him unperturbed. He just won't admit he's subject to pain.

Only broken bones force him to grudgingly admit he isn't ready to play, and even those keep him out for a minimum of time.

We recall that in the first game of a World Series he was struck on the arm by a pitched ball. He trotted down to first with no more apparent concern than if he had been used as a quick lunch by a mosquito.

He didn't even rub the arm, and anyone who has suffered excruciating pain knows how hard it is not to touch the affected area.

"I wasn't going to let anyone know it hurt," he said simply.

Yet the injury was so serious the arm swelled, and it would have put anyone else out of the lineup. He continued to play through the series. Always noted in those days—or maybe we shouldn't put that in the past tense—for the accuracy and power of his arm, he played out there in right field possibly dreading the time when he might have to make a throw. Fortunately the occasion did not arise.

"I'd have made it if my arm dropped off," he said, and you knew he meant it.

Slaughter's ability to keep going on and on is due to two factors—never allowing himself to get badly out of condition, even during the winter months and a determination that refuses to allow him to recognize the years.

Gannet Cops Laurel 7th

Beats See Me Go, Minus Pool $5,628

LAUREL, Md., April 4 (AP) — Qualifying handsomely for the $20,000-added Chesapeake Stakes to be run here on April 20, Walter M. Jeffords' Gannet won the Embassy Purse, seventh race on today's Laurel racing program.

A nominee to the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, Gannet, ridden by Tony Despirito, outclassed five rivals and a stablemate in coming from off the pace to win by two lengths in 1.11 2/5.

Mrs. Patricia F. Haun's See Me Go, who also is eligible for the Chesapeake, followed Gannet in his late drive down the stretch and finished second, about a length and a half in front of Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Roscoe Maney.

Gannet paid $3.80, $2.40 and $2.20. See Me Go $3.80 and $2.20, and Roscoe Maney $2.20.

Gannet, a son of Pavot and Snow Goose, won just one of four starts at two last year, but finished second to King Hairan in the coveted hopeful stakes at Saratoga Springs.

A standout on figures, Gannet was backed down to 9-to-10 odds to win and created a minus pool of $5,628 when the "bridge jumpers" bet heavily in the third spot.

Metals Hit Rather Hard As Market Climb Halted

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — The stock market failed today to run its gains into three in a row. It closed lower.

Rails and utilities showed minor strength during the morning. But the weight of easiness in industrials finally caused the other two major market divisions to fall back.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 20 cents to $175.60 with the industrials down 40 cents, the rails down 20 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,101 stocks traded 337 advanced and 497 declined.

Metals were hit rather hard, particularly Phelps Dodge. It fell 3⅛ to 56⅝ with most of the selling concentrated in the last hour on reports the firm would show sharply lower first quarter earnings.

This brought some selling into other metals, Kennecott sinking 2⅛ to 115⅝ and American Smelting 1 to 55½.

Most steels registered minor losses but there were two notable exceptions to the pattern—Youngstown and Lukens.

Youngstown raced ahead toward the finish to close 1½ higher at 105. Lukens broke 7⅛ to 65⅛ after having hit a new 1957 high at the opening. Trading was suspended in this stock for about an hour in the morning as heavy selling orders swamped the market.

Opening lead: Ten of clubs.

In today's hand from a recent tournament, the slam contract was handed to several declarers on a platter when some Wests got off to the old fashioned fourth best from the king of hearts. The first trick was won with the queen, and the jack of hearts provided the 12th trick.

However, our central character had to make it the hard way.

South opened with one spade, and North, with a hand worth 19 points, made an immediate jump shift. South named his diamonds, and North showed the spade fit, whereupon South indicated a heart stopper by bidding three no trump. At this point, North made an ace showing bid of four hearts, and South, having definitely more than a minimum, contracted for slam in no trump.

The lead of the fourth best against no trump slams has not been shown much favor by players of experience, who prefer to look for safety at the start.

So West declined to make an aggressive lead and chose the ten of clubs as least likely to sacrifice a trick.

Warned that this might be a short suit lead, declarer placed no faith in clubs breaking, and it appeared to him that there were two chances to win the hand: 1. that the jack of diamonds would drop, a situation which would take care of itself; 2. that the king of hearts was finessable and that the queen might be made on an end play.

The opening lead was won with the king in dummy. A spade to the queen put South in to take the heart finesse, and the jack held. Declarer then cashed the ace of clubs and the remaining spades, on which West parted with two hearts and a diamond.

Declarer then ran three diamond tricks and got out with the ten of diamonds. This was taken by West, who had to lead away from the king of hearts and permit declarer to score his 11th and 12th tricks with the ace and queen of that suit.

Man Who Quit As Mayor 'Much Happier' As Printer

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—A man who quit as mayor of Dalton, Ga., to take a job as a printer in Chicago said today he is "much happier" in his new position.

"Being mayor had too many headaches because too many people tried to run things," Clarence Green explained during a break on his night shift job at a paper company.

Green, 32, told a newsman it would "take half a day to tell you the whole story of why I resigned."

But he said differences of opinion he had with the Dalton City Council were the main reasons.

"I served in the job 15 months," Green recalled, "and I'm glad I quit. I like Chicago and I like my job here."

Green brought his wife and two children to Chicago March 15. He works in the printing department of the International Paper Co. He said he chose Chicago as his new home because of "pleasant experiences" he had here as a World War II Army enlisted man.

Speaking with a soft Southern accent, Green explained that he had upset the favored incumbent in the last mayoral elections in Dalton, a city of about 24,000.

"I won by 23 votes—yes 23—that's right. I was a representative of the working people and they all got behind me," Green said.

Cinderella

"We think the Cinderella story has had a pretty fair success as it is," declared Richard Rodgers, speaking of the televised version he was composing with Oscar Hammerstein. "The plot has been used in hundreds of variations over the years, but none is better known than the original. It would be presumptuous to modernize it."

Having thus genuflected to the original of all escapist literature, Rodgers and Hammerstein proceeded to modernize the hell out of it. The King and Queen (Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney) — I had not realized there were monarchs in the original — were bumbling and sweet and worried parents rather than royalty. The Fairy Godmother (Edie Adams) was a sharp-tongued lady who didn't believe much in miracles and used her magic powers with the utmost reluctance. The stepmother (Ilka Chase) and stepsisters (Kaye Ballard and Alice Ghostly) were homely, human, slightly pathetic, and not at all cruel or wicked.

All these changes added modernity, humor, humanness and rather tighter motivation to the ancient story but there's no evading the fact that it also drained away some of the magic, too. The pumpkin turned into a golden coach (right in front of our eyes). The dress becomes a ball gown and all the rest of it — but it still wasn't a fairy story exactly after Rodgers and Hammerstein got finished with it.

Apart from that, though, I have few complaints. Rodgers and Hammerstein, the old pros, have turned out a truly lovely score which contained not only "Do I Love You Because You're Beautiful," which already looks like a hit; but four other tunes, "Impossible," "In My Own Little Corner," "Lovely Night" and "Ten Minutes Ago" which could certainly become fellow hits.

However, R. & H. are not simply tunesmiths; they are showmen. "The "impossible" number, wherein Edie Adams ridicules the whole idea of miracles and then is gradually won around, is a beautifully staged and timed dramatic musical scene. When the two ladies, Cinderella and her fairy godmother ride off to the ball in the pumpkin coach, you have as fine and theatrical a first act curtain as you'll ever see.

The second act — to look at this with a coldly commercial eye — was also written with slick professional stagecraftmanship, it starts — how else? With a ballroom scene of dancing. It includes a great entrance for Cinderella at the head of the stairs, Rodgers and Hammerstein not being known to shrink from sheer theatrical effectiveness. It contains the chief love scene and love song "Do I Love You" and a splendid second act curtain with Cinderella dashing through the ballroom up the stairs and out into the night, her Prince in pursuit, the glass slipper left on the stairs.

If there was any let-down at all, it was the very beginning of the third act when Cinderella asks her stepmother and stepsisters to tell her about the ball and this has been shored up with a beautiful song "A Lovely Night" sung by all four girls. Wisely, Rodgers and Hammerstein end the play with the actual wedding which gives Julie Andrews a chance to make another entrance and wear another spectacular gown and, of course, gives everyone a chance to sing a reprise of "Do I Love You."

Julie Andrews, the Cinderella girl of "My Fair Lady," was a lovely, sure-footed, wide-eyed Cinderella of the TV screen and her small clear bell of a voice was just right for these melodies (better attuned to them, in fact, than the more strenuous demands of the "Fair Lady" score). Her Prince, Jon Cypher, I found a little wooden and neuter and unreal. Apart from him I thought the cast was just great — especially Edie Adams who came perilously close to stealing the show.

George Bernard Shaw borrowed heavily from Cinderella for "My Fair Lady" and William and Jean Eckart, who designed the costumes and scenery, returned the compliment by swiping Cecil Beaton's regency motif from "My Fair Lady." The Eckart's soft gray and pastel colors were stunning but CBS still isn't in NBC's league when it comes to transmitting and lighting color. It was a damned shame, too, because what looked like beautiful color-harmonies in clothes and settings were muddled.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of J. E. Moats. God called home, six years ago April 5, 1951.
We really miss you Pop,
Since God took you away,
With broken hearts we watched you,
Saw you pass away.
And tho we tried to Pop,
We could not make you stay.
We were standing at your bedside and saw your life depart,
And when we knew you were gone,
It almost broke our hearts.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, that isn't true,
For six long years have passed Pop
And our hearts still ache for you.
Wife, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our husband, father, and grandfather, Howard P. Miller, who passed away three years ago, April 5, 1954.
Your memory to us is a keepsake
With which we will never part
Though God has you in his keeping
We will have you in our hearts.
Loving wife, son, granddaughter Coleen."

Cards of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our wife and sister, Mrs. Dewey Porter. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and to all others who in any way rendered assistance.

Elderly Couple Bound, Robbed

Armed Bandits Escape With $315 In Daylight Raid At Mt. Savage

Three armed bandits forced their way into a Mt. Savage home yesterday afternoon, beat and gagged an elderly couple and drove away in a light-colored sedan with $315 of the couple's money.

Police put out a 15-state general alarm for their arrest.

Victims of the holdup were Karl E. Ewald, 75-year-old retired railroader, and his wife, Mrs. Agnes G. Ewald, 70, of Water Street.

All local authorities and police of 15 states have been alerted, according to Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police at LaVale Barracks.

Force Way Into Home

Sgt. Baker said the robbery was staged by three young men between 20 and 30 years old. He gave this account:

The three men walked onto the front porch of the Ewald home yesterday about 2 p. m. One of them knocked on the front door after unlatching the locked screen door by poking a screwdriver through the screening.

As Mrs. Ewald opened the door, the three men rushed into the house. She managed to run through a hallway toward the kitchen door in an attempt to call for help, but was grabbed by one of the bandits and knocked to the kitchen floor.

Her husband, who was in a nearby room, heard the commotion and hurried to the kitchen. Immediately the men grabbed him and demanded his money.

One of the bandits struck his wife on the face and head and Mr. Ewald was pushed into a chair. Both were bound with cloth and adhesive tape which the three men had brought with them.

Phone Wires Cut

During the scuffle the lines of a telephone in a downstairs den and an upstairs room were cut by one of the bandits.

One of the men demanded the combination to a wall safe in an upstairs rear room and jotted down the information Mr. Ewald gave him. It was the wrong combination.

One went upstairs to try the combination but failed to open the safe. He returned downstairs and threatened to kill Mrs. Ewald if Mr. Ewald didn't give the correct combination.

They poked guns, a kitchen butcher knife and a "small spear" against Mr. Ewald's chest and demanded his money. He decided to open the safe and turn over the contents—about $300 in currency.

Later, the robbers again tied him up in a chair, binding his legs and wrists. They also took about $15 in a change purse from a bowl in the dining room before leaving the house.

Wife Summons Help

Mrs. Ewald, although still tied in the chair, was able to work her way toward the kitchen and back porch and down a few steps to the backyard where she got the attention of a neighbor, Nina Malloy, who lives to the rear of the Ewald home.

Three youngsters were called and released the couple. Maryland State Police received a call about 3:15 p.m. and Sgt. Baker was assigned to the case.

Baker pointed out the robbery was on the order of a "big town" job, and all three men were armed with revolvers. He was able to get only vague descriptions of the three men and of their late-model car.

Mrs. Ewald suffered an injury to her head and also to her wrists, bound with adhesive tape. Her husband also sustained wrist injuries. A retired railroader, he has been in ill health for some time.

Judge Decides Woman's Estate Worth $9,989

Rest Of $79,247 Held As Life Tenant

The individual estate of Mrs. Lillian M. King, who died here January 4, 1956, was $9,989.29 and not $40,928.05 as shown by her executor's account, Chief Judge George Henderson decided in a 10-page opinion filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

This equity suit involves the proper distribution of a life estate upon the death of the widow to whom her husband had given a life estate only in his property. The plaintiffs, Bertha Berryman, et al, are those persons to whom the husband, Francis William King, had left his estate upon the death of his wife. The defendant, William B. Robb Jr., is the executor under the will of the wife, Lillian M. King.

Robb admits that certain assets in his hands are distributable under the will of the husband, but alleges that the greater part of the assets belonged to the wife personally at her death rather than to her as a life tenant only.

Francis William King died February 9, 1934. Mrs. King was made life tenant of assets with a total value of $68,633.26.

Judge Henderson then states that her executor's account shows that she held as life tenant two savings accounts of $13,708.16 and certain securities valued at $24,611.58, making a total of $38,319.74 which the executor admits is distributable under the husband's will.

There were in the name of Lillian M. King individually checking and savings accounts totaling $24,592.55 and securities valued at $16,335.50, making a combined total of $40,928.05. At Mrs. King's death the total of the two estates was $79,247.79.

Judge Henderson writes that it is apparent now that there was a mingling of the life estate with her own personal estate by Mrs. King which apparently was the result of her lack of business experience. She was not living extravagantly or spending money recklessly.

In determining what portion of the estate belonged to Mrs. King personally, Judge Henderson starts with a total of $6,059.66 which Mrs King had in savings account on August 21, 1934, "which certainly was hers." With interest up to the time of her death this account increased in value to $7,940.29. To this amount the judge adds $2,049 resulting from liquidation of certain stocks plus her four shares of Liberty Trust Company stock and furniture and jewelry.

"The defendant, as executor will be entitled to administer in the Orphans Court the individual estate of Mrs. Lillian M. King consisting of $9,989.29 and four shares of stock of Liberty Trust Company," Judge Henderson concludes.

"All the other listed assets properly belong to the estate of Francis William King. They will be distributed herein under the jurisdiction of this court in accordance with the terms of his will . . ." Judge Henderson states.

Celanese Contract Session Set Monday

Efforts To negotiate a new contract at the Amcelle plant will be resumed Monday at 10 a. m. by negotiators for Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, and the Celanese Corporation of America.

The present working agreement is scheduled to expire Monday at midnight.

Members of the local rejected a company proposal for a new contract at meetings Wednesday night and yesterday morning, according to John G. Thomas, president of the local.

Major points in disagreement, he said, are a wage offer and a contract issue. He said the company's offer was on a graduated scale while the union, with the exception of the Engineering Department, wants a flat pay increase.

Wesley Cook, TWUA synthetic yarn director, will attend Monday's 11th-hour session, the union said.

Flue Fire Checked

Firemen from East Side station checked a flue fire early yesterday afternoon at 507 Furnace Street. No damage was reported. The call was received at 12:58 p. m.

College Need Study Will Be Started Soon

Resolutions Seek Report By July 1

The State Department of Education is expected soon to begin a study of the desirability of planning public education beyond the high school level for deserving youths in Allegany County.

This study will be undertaken in compliance with House Resolution 22 and Senate Resolution 16, identical bills which were introduced simultaneously in the two branches of the General Assembly February 1 and were approved during the 90-session which ended only Monday.

Results of this study are to be made known to Senator Charles M. See and the members of the County Delegation on or before July 1, 1957.

Copies of the identical resolutions have been sent to Dr. D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools in finance and research, who is expected to begin the necessary study soon.

A local campaign designed to focus public attention on the need for a four-year liberal arts college in the Cumberland area was started last fall by the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society.

Yesterday Dr. Gordon Sutherland, a member of the Western Maryland Section, continued the campaign in an address to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club. Dr. Sutherland, who is a research chemist at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, said a four-year college here would increase the cultural level of the community, would encourage more young people of the area to pursue a college education and would provide certain economic advantages, including the encouragement of new industry to locate here.

Dr. Sutherland said only 18 per cent of the high school graduates in Allegany County go on to college, compared with a state and national average of 32 per cent.

The resolutions adopted in Annapolis resolve that the State Board of Education, through its professional staff of the State Board of Education, cause a study to be made of the desirability for planning education beyond high school for Allegany County youths so that they may be prepared to meet the employment requirements of new industries and, be prepared for careers which will enable them to make their contribution to industry, as well as to the social and economic welfare of Allegany County communities.

Grand Jury Likely To Finish Today

The April grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court is expected to conclude its activities today, the fifth day.

When Chief Judge George Henderson excused the 23 grand jurors yesterday afternoon, they were instructed to return at 1:30 p. m. today except for those assisting in the compilation of the report.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint are titled Dorothy Leato Clingerman vs. Harry Grant Clingerman, and Helen Bierman vs. James E. Bierman.

Radium Prospecting

Lloyd Sisler, 416 Park Street, an employe of Consolidated Engineering Company, checks radiation from his radium-dial wrist watch with a Geiger counter at the Atoms-For-Peace exhibit brought here yesterday by the Atomic Energy Commission. In background is Charles G. Phillippi, Oak Ridge, Tenn., exhibit manager. The exhibit visited Fort Hill and Allegany high schools, then parked at City Hall during the afternoon and evening.

Loch Lynn Faculty

The four-teacher faculty at Loch Lynn Heights is seen here at and after-school conference in the school's new cafeteria. This school was practically rebuilt under the modernization program of the Garrett County Board of Education and is now one of the best equipped in the county. The teachers, who are pleased with their bright and shining quarters were still at the school at 5:30 p. m. on the unannounced tour of the schools, group includes Mrs. Elizabeth McComas, Grades 1-2; Francis Harris, principal and Grade 5 teacher; Mrs. Thelma Hanlin, Grade 4 and Mrs. Madelein Blamble, Grades 2 and 3.

McKeldin To Act On Teacher Pay, Other Bills

ANNAPOLIS, April 4 (AP) — The school teachers' pay raise and other bills from the 1957 General Assembly will be acted on by Gov. McKeldin before he leaves April 21 for an overseas trip, his aides said today.

Awaiting a signature or veto by the governor is a stack of 434 new acts from the Legislature. Earlier he signed 441 into law and vetoed three. Two of the vetoes were overridden and became law, and the other was sustained.

McKeldin plans to act on some of the bills next Wednesday, the number depending on how many the attorney general's office has been able to screen by then. Others will be acted on in one or two more bill signing sessions in his Baltimore office before he leaves for a six-week trip to Africa and Europe.

By the time he gets back, the May 8 constitutional deadline for his signature will have passed. Any not acted on by that date are automatically vetoed, but aides say he has never used the so-called "pocket veto" to dispose of a bill.

In addition to the school teacher pay raise, voted by the Assembly on its last day along with a three-cents state tax on cigarets, major measures awaiting action include:

Creation of a full-time workmen's compensation commission to replace the State Accident Commission.

Establishment of an unstatisfied claim and judgment fund to compensate victims of uninsured motorists for damages exceeding $100.

A re-registration of Maryland motorists to be held over a three-year period beginning next year.

And bills to repeal the 1785 compact with Virginia and bring Virginians fishing in the Potomac River under provisions of Maryland conservation laws.

Numerous others which passed late in the session also are in the stack, the great bulk of them local in nature.

The 878 bills enacted by the Assembly came from a record 1,616 introduced in the two houses. The percentage which got through was comparatively small for recent years.

Out of fewer introduced in 1947, for example, 927 were signed into law by Gov. Lane and approximately 100 others were vetoed.

Garrett's Schools:

How Consolidation Aided County Education System

This is the second in a series of articles on the progress which Garrett County's school system has made in the past few years. The series has been prepared by F. Allan Weatherholt, Cumberland News reporter who recently toured the schools of Maryland's westernmost county.

Several years ago when Garrett County public officials and school board officials decided to consolidate all high school grades into two county high schools, one in Oakland and one between Grantsville and Accident, other communities raised strong objections. Kitzmiller especially voiced vehement opposition. This happened some years before the arrival of the present school superintendent, Willard L. Hawkins.

In Kitzmiller, once the largest town in the county, when it was the center of a vast coal producing area, the high school has been of great importance to the residents. In the 1920s, when high school grades were extended to cover four years, many young men and women who had graduated from a three-year course in high school returned for another year.

During the next few years, the town produced championship soccer, basketball and track teams. Rivalry with Oakland and other county communities became acute. Lack of adequate facility for classes in Kitzmiller was always a bone of contention in the county.

How It Started

The first two primary grades and the four years of high school were housed in old Warnick Hall, which had been used variously as a storeroom, storage facility and so forth. The building was a large, almost square frame structure. It was difficult to heat, and there was no plumbing. Laboratory facilities were scanty, and everything was quite makeshift.

After floods, coal strikes and worked-out coal seams had just about wrecked the flourishing and proud community, it was given a new lease on community life with the construction of a new brick high school. Some repairs were made to the old elementary school building, and school life was greatly improved. However, when the high school consolidation came about, all grades were removed from Kitzmiller except the first six grades of elementary school. Children were transported long distances to Oakland, or traveled to Elk Garden, W. Va.

Parents and townspeople continued their protests. By the time Mr. Hawkins arrived in the county, things here had settled down somewhat, but there were still complaints.

Surveying the situation, Mr. Hawkins made arrangements to improve conditions at the new brick building.

At a cost of $72,000, including architect fees, equipment and contract price, an all-purpose room was added to the Kitzmiller school. This room is used as an auditorium, cafeteria and basketball court. A new, modern kitchen adjoins the all-purpose room.

This addition also made possible the opening of additional class rooms, an office, a school library, a health room, and two more grades were added, so that the townspeople now have eight grades and the younger children are no longer transported long distances by bus. Savings in transportation resulted, and the community has the best facilities for school and community activity it has ever had.

A Community Center

Each Wednesday night the auditorium is open for games, parties, dances and entertainment for teen-agers, and is available and widely used other nights of the week by school and community groups.

The old, outdated school has been closed, but still stands as a gaunt reminder to those who attended there. Some of the teachers in the present school attended school and taught in the old building. Nothing remains of old Warnick hall, which disappeared from the scene over a decade ago.

The enrollment at Kitzmiller had dwindled to about 150 children in six grades, but is now about 275 in eight grades. Two

Work On Access Road To Housing Project Starts

The George F. Hazelwood Company has started to grade the access road to the Horse Rock Hill development, Westernport, according to George R. Failing, manager of the development for West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Grading and stone-surfacing of the access road as well as roads within the develeped is expected to be completed within 30 days, weather permitting.

This will make available the first 88 lots to be sold from the 235-acre tract, being developed by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company to meet the need for adequate housing sites in the Tri-Towns area.

Size of the lots varies from 100 to 150 feet in frontage and from 150 to 200 feet in depth. They are available to any person who wants to buy and are not restricted to employes of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. All homes will be built by the owners of the lots.

The development plan conforms with FHA requirements.

The Mayor and Council of Westernport has agreed to provide water and sewer service for the area.

Counties Get $5,200 Receipts

County commissioners in the four Western Maryland counties soon will be sent checks totaling $5,200.90 by State Forester H. C. Buckingham, representing 15 per cent of the State Department of Forests and Parks' receipts from facilities in their respective counties.

Garrett County will get the lion's share of that total, $4,087.66, which represents 15 per cent of the receipts from Savage River, Swallow Falls and Potomac State Forests and Deep Creek Lake State Park during the six months between July 1 and December 31, 1956.

About half of the receipts came from rental of camping facilities and the other half from timber cut off the state forests.

Allegany County wlil receive a check for $609.87, which is 15 per cent of the six-month receipts from Green Ridge State Forest and the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area. All this was from timber cuttings.

The other checks are $335.59 for Frederick County, from Gambrills, Gathland and Cunningham Falls State Parks and $167.78 for Washington County from Fort Frederick and Washington Monument State Parks.

School Polio Program Is At Halfway Mark

Second Shots Set Beginning Monday

The Allegany County Health Department this week completed the first half of a comprehensive vaccination program designed to protect school children of this county from polio.

Over 12,000 shots of Salk vaccine were given to students of the public and parochial schools during school clinics held March 13 through Wednesday.

Students of the first four grades, who had received first and second shots during previous school clinics, were offered booster shots, and first or second shots were given to all other students.

Plan Second Shots

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, said about 65 per cent of the students enrolled in the schools took advantage of the shots. Most of the others had been given protection by their family physician.

The immunization program moved smoothly, in spite of its size.

The biggest day was March 22, when students at Luke and Virginia Avenue elementary schools and Fort Hill High School received shots. At Fort Hill, 1,484 injections were given in three hours.

Second injections are slated to begin Monday at 9 a.m. in St. Peter's School, Westernport, and are scheduled to end May 8 at St. Mary's School here.

Need More Vaccine

Dr. Frantz said supplies are on hand here for about 5,000 shots and that efforts will be made to secure additional supplies.

Although the current program has taxed the facilities of the Allegany County Health Department, it could set the stage for a permanent polio immunization program in the schools.

Virtually complete protection could be achieved in a number of years by offering Salk polio vaccine shots as children enter school.

Some arrangement, however, would have to be worked out to finance the program.

To date, vaccine used by the Health Department has been supplied by the federal government or the Polio Foundation.

Government Rests Case In Condemnation

The federal government yesterday rested its case in Federal District Court at Martinsburg, W. Va., after James A. Perrin, local real estate agent, had testified that the Mineral County Board of Education is entitled to only about $725 damages for Ridgeley High School athletic field property taken in the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Mr. Perrin, who acted as agent for the City of Cumberland in the acquisition of certain property needed in the flood control project, stated that the land taken was worth something over $8,000. Offsetting this, Mr. Perrin said, is the increased value to the remaining property as a result of the added flood protection.

The Mineral County Board of Education is expected to begin its case today and about seven or eight witnesses are likely to be called by the board's attorney's Clarence E. Martin Jr. of Martinsburg and Donald Hott of Keyser.

Albert M. Morgan of Morgan town, U. S. district attorney for Northern West Virginia, and R. Jacob Schleuss, Martinsburg, his assistant, indicate they will have some rebuttal witnesses. After today, the third day in the trial, the case probably will recess until Monday morning.

Ralph Thomas, an engineer for the General Services Administration also testified for the federal government in the land condemnation case.

Thomas testified that in his opinion the Mineral County Board of Education should receive $4,100 for land taken for the flood project. Thomas said that he has made a thorough study of the situation concerning the value of the land taken. He said benefits to the residue were also taken into consideration.

These benefits are listed at $9,600 by Thomas on the basis of flood protection afforded by the levee in the future. He said that from past experience it shows that the Ridgeley School building is flooded once every five years and that in each case it costs the Mineral County Board of Education $600.

Thomas projected these figures on an additional 80 years (which he said was the life of the building) to show that the cost would be $120 per year. He said the board should be compensated an additional $150 per year for the easement on the other school land not to be permanently retained by the government.

Thomas said the cost to the board when the building is flooded is $100 for general cleaning, $200 for electrical and heating repairs, $150 for painting and $150 for deterioration.
